SMITH BLAST STIRS PARTY'S FIRE

SRA Locates Hidden Wealth
For 'Penniless' Aid ApplicantsFIND CASH IN INSURANCE POLICIES

One Family Astounded By
Discovery of $12,000
Bank Account

Thousands of dollars in insurance wealth, much of it unknown to its owners, have been discovered by SRA investigators, Terrence Halloran, county SRA manager, revealed today.

The small fortune lay in cash values of insurance policies. Each client, as he registered for relief, listed among other things his bank accounts, property, and insurance. The SRA division of property and finance today estimated it had found more than $25,000 in insurance values.

Sends Son to College

There was the case of an Orange county man who faced hard times. With his resources apparently exhausted, he applied for relief. An investigator found that his insurance policy had a cash value of $4,000.

Delighted, the would-be relief client was able to pay debts and send his son to college.

Mexican families particularly, the SRA administrator pointed out, were unaware of the value of their insurance. One such family, which had paid for years on "nickel and dime" policies, obtained $700 through the aid of an investigator. It was more money than the family ever had had at one time.

Change Policies

Investigators found additional value for clients through "dire need" concessions of at least one insurance company. Although the usual industrial policy provides no cash or loan value until 10 years have elapsed, provision is made for cashing at the end of three years if real need is shown.

For families carrying endowment policies, investigators arranged to switch to straight life policies, lessening the premium payments without decreasing the protection for accident or death. These efforts brought either cash reimbursements or extensions of the policies.

Find $12,000

Insurance, however, Halloran pointed out today, is only one phase of the SRA financial and property investigation. To prevent relief payments to persons not in actual need, workers investigate property ownership, building and loan certificates, stocks, bank accounts, and other property or sources of income.

Largest amount discovered, the division reported today, was $12,000 in a savings account.

Occasionally a relief client leaves the rolls because he inherits his money or is awarded damages in a court action. It is one of the duties of the finance department to keep track of such windfalls.

Study Relief Cases

Interested in insurance as it affects persons on relief, Seldon Martin, SRA visitor, today entered the school of social welfare at the University of Southern California to work for a master's degree in social science. His thesis will deal with his findings on 1700 relief cases, of which approximately 400 carried insurance.

Alfred Knight, another visitor, also entered the school of social welfare today, seeking a master's degree. Both were granted three months' leave of absence.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The body of a man tentatively identified as Herman Jacobs, 44, former marine corps lieutenant, was found today in an isolated field near Exposition boulevard.

Detectives said he may have been killed for the $750 veterans' bonus he received last week.

5 Asserted Strike
Agitators Jailed

Five arrests of asserted Mexican jail today charged with vagrancy following his arrest by deputies. Ines Granados, 19, Los Angeles student, was released today under $50 bail, following his arrest for investigation. He was charged by the highway patrol with having improper identification on his car.

Francisco Gomez, 36, Orange citrus worker, received a 30-day jail sentence today on three technical charges preferred by the highway patrol. He was arrested last week at a mass meeting of strike sympathizers.

Reports from Anaheim that a Filipino worker had been beaten by Mexican strikers last night were being checked by officers today. Neither the sheriff's office nor Anaheim police had definite information.

California Highway Patrol Officer Sheriff Jackson said today that vigilance of patrols and convoys would not be relaxed until the strike definitely is ended.

Arthur Hill Ortiz, 24, Los Angeles, was lodged in the county jail today.

Ex-Office Manager For State Board Asserts
He Gave Orders

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Men described as "underworld characters" were frequent visitors at the Los Angeles office of the board of equalization, and one man, said to be a politician, had access to the office files, Mrs. Marie Toretzky, former manager of the liquor control office, testified today.

Mrs. Toretzky appeared before the assembly audit-finance committee investigating alleged corruption in state liquor administration.

'Too Many to List'

"Did you ever observe underworld characters call to see Massey?" she was asked, the question referring to Capt. L. Massey, formerly chief liquor control officer in the Los Angeles area.

Mrs. Toretzky said she did, but said she was unable to name them.

"There were so many I couldn't give a list. Most of them used fictitious names," she said.

Massey, she said, gave Max Berensweig, politician, permission to go through the liquor files, and she declared that Ken Parrott, political leader, "gave orders" to Massey's regime.

Used Name of Quinn

Parrott telephoned Massey several times a day during the first three months of 1935, she testified.

"Captain Massey told me to obey any orders he gave," Mrs. Toretzky said. She told the committee Parrott frequently used the name "Quinn" in his messages.

"Did these other men give instructions?" she was asked.

"The others made the requests. But Parrott ran the office. I had orders from him."

Landon Will Be
'Told' July 23

TOPEKA, Kans. (AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon will be notified formally of his nomination as the Republican candidate for president at a ceremony to be held on the state house grounds here July 23.

The scene will be that at which the late Charles Curtis was notified of his nomination for the vice presidency in 1928 and 1932, and on which President Roosevelt made one of his principal speeches of the 1932 campaign.

Rep. Bertrand Swell, permanent chairman of the Republican national convention, is the first to notify Governor Landon of his nomination.

The double skirmish climaxed a week-end of fights which saw two British soldiers and between 20 and 40 Arabs killed yesterday. The sniping attacks were directed by Arabs against the train running from Jerusalem to Haifa, the seaport. The soldiers were serving as guards.

JAMES TRIAL
UNDER WAY

Charged With Drowning Wife After Having
Snakes Bite Her

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Selection of a jury to try the much-married Robert S. James on murder charges in the rattlesnake-bathtub killing of his last wife proceeded swiftly today.

Before court opened, defense and prosecution attorneys held conference in the chambers of Judge Charles R. Fricke and agreed to eliminate many of the questions usually asked jurors.

James fidgeted in his chair, rubbing his red hair with his hands, as prospective jurors paraded through the jury box.

Wed in Santa Ana

James is accused of having slain Mary Bush James at their La Crescenta bungalow last Aug. 5, by exposing her bare legs to snake bites and then drowning her in a bathtub.

(The couple were married in Santa Ana less than three weeks before Mrs. James was assertedly slain.)

She was found lying face down in a fish pool and James sought to collect her life insurance on a double indemnity basis.

District Attorney Burt Pitts announced he would call witnesses from Colorado to testify concerning the death of another wife, Winona Wallace James, in a tourist camp at Manitou, Colo., in 1932. She also was declared to have been drowned in a bathtub. James collected $14,000 on her life insurance, the prosecutor said.

Under Long Sentence

James already is under sentence of three to 150 years in state prison on morals charges involving his pretty 21-year-old niece, Lois Wright, with whom he was alleged to have been living here.

District Attorney Pitts, announcing James had offered to plead guilty to the murder charge with the provision he would receive a life sentence, said he would demand the death penalty.

Charles Hope, ex-sailor, has pleaded guilty to murder as an accomplice in Mrs. James' death. He was quoted by the prosecuting attorney as declaring that when the bites of rattlesnakes failed to bring death as they were applied to Mrs. James, bound to a table, the woman was drowned in the tub.

Straying away from the corner where her father was officiating at an Army meeting, she was reported lost.

Police found her a short time later enjoying a really spooky movie which she was persuaded to leave to go home.

PRESSURE IS
PLATFORM

Many Democrats Seek to Make Its Planks
More 'Liberal'

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—A Democratic platform, patterned after the White House after the "New Deal," headed today toward a national convention in which pressure from both "left" and "right" was already in evidence.

Sen. Robert Wagner, of New York, prospective chairman of the resolutions committee, bore the White House draft to the convention.

Strong forces were at work among arriving delegates to make the platform more "liberal" to meet the challenge of the new "Union" party headed by Rep. William Lemke, of North Dakota, and other leftist groups.

Leaders of the move in this direction pressed the view that the statement issued yesterday by Alfred E. Smith and four other prominent Democrats asking the convention to find a "substitute" for President Roosevelt showed the New Deal had lost this faction beyond recall.

U. S. Denied Delay
In Utility Trial

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The government lost in the District of Columbia court of appeals today in its effort to delay trial of injunction suits brought by seven utility companies against the Wheeler-Rayburn holdings company law.

The appellate court's decision was made in the special appeal from the stay order by the North American Company, which controls local traction and electric facilities, and the American Water Works and Electric Company.

The plaintiff holding companies have not registered under the Wheeler-Rayburn law and have declared their intention not to register. They have contended that registration with the securities exchange commission would enable the commission to carry out a "death sentence" against them.

ST. LOUIS. (AP)—Two unemployed men, who witnessed a $400 bonus bond robbery of a former soldier, were found beaten to death today in their squalid living quarters in an abandoned riverfront building.

Detectives, making their daily search of the building in which transients frequently stop for the night, found William Maddigan, 48, dead on his cot in a first-floor room. His head had been crushed.

In a second-floor room they found William Hoelscher, 40, who had witnessed the robbery Saturday of Roy Harder, 49, an unemployed cook.

JAMES A. REED
ALFRED E. SMITH

Demanding repudiation of President Roosevelt, five prominent Democrats headed by former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, one-time presidential nominee, last night issued a statement in which they called upon the Democratic convention at Philadelphia to nominate a "genuine Democrat."

Former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, Bainbridge Colby of New York, former Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts and Daniel F. Cohalan of New York were the other four who signed the lengthy statement with Smith.

What's This Fight Between
Cotton and Neblett? Is It
'Big Frog in Puddle' Idea?

By ROCH BRADSHAW

"They'd both like to be the big frog in the puddle."

In this manner Horace Head, Santa Ana attorney and prominent Democrat, today characterized the "battle of giants" scheduled for tonight at the Democratic convention in Philadelphia, between Hamilton H. Cotton of San Clemente and William B. Neblett of Los Angeles.

Reports from the convention city said the "long anticipated quarrel" between Cotton and Neblett was expected to break out at a caucus of the California delegation tonight.

Nobody Knows Cause

Except for the suggestion that both Cotton and Neblett may wish to be the "king pin" of the California delegation, local Democrats today were unable to explain the underlying cause of the reported quarrel. Republicans were just as silent on the question.

"It just looks to me like rivalry as to which is to be the leader," said Head. "The thing broke loose some time ago when Neblett announced he was the 'big gun' and Cotton didn't agree. They'd both like to be the big frog in the puddle."

Marshall Secrest, Democrat, said also the quarrel started several months ago, but nobody knows what's back of it. Reports have drifted down here from Los Angeles, he said, but can't be verified.

Mitchell's Guess

"I haven't any idea what's at the bottom of it," said City Judge John Mitchell, chairman of the Orange county Democratic central committee. "I'm guessing it's true they both want to be boss."

Comments from Republicans were just as non-committal.

Col. M. B. Wellington more or less agreed with the Democrats' views and suggested that Senator McCadoo, Neblett's partner, is interested in maintaining his prestige in California.

That something has been brewing for some time was indicated recently by Stanley Clem, president of Young Democrats of Orange county. Clem referred to the California Assembly of Democrats, which he said was organized by Cotton to destroy effectiveness of central committees and to take over patronage matters from Cotton.

Everybody's Watching

At that time Clem indicated an attempt was being made to force the issue. Democrats club to fall in line, but said it would not merge with any other group. He also told of reports that several directors had resigned from the assembly.

Both Democrats and Republicans will watch with interest developments at the convention, to see if reports of the quarrel breaking out are supported by what takes place there.

And they also will watch with interest to determine, if possible, the underlying cause of the difference.

U. S. Missionary Held for Ransom

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Chinese bandits holding the Rev. Clarence Joseph Burns, American Catholic missionary, demanded 5,000,000 Chinese dollars ($1,500,000) for his release today.

First information of the ransom demand came in a letter signed by the missionary, reports reaching here from Manchuria declared. Father Burns, associated with the Maryknoll Mission of Ossining, N. Y., was captured Feb. 5.

Delegates Arrive For

By EDWARD J. DUFFY

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—The Roosevelt convention majorities paraded noisily into this usually sedate metropolis today talking frolic—but ready to make a fight of it with Alfred E. Smith if he chooses.

"He is a delegate, the floor is his if he wants it," said Chairman James A. Farley.

Alfred J. Kennedy, an alternate from New York, had responded to Smith's demand for a proposal that the 1928 standard bearer go before the convention personally.

He's Not Expected

Should he do so, hostility from his own delegation and those of many other states already was assured. Neither Farley nor any other New Deal leader apparently expected him to come down from New York.

Among the delegates arriving for the convention opening tomorrow, none thus far have risen to support the statement in which Smith and four other anti-New Deal Democrats in a formal statement called on the convention to put aside Mr. Roosevelt and nominate "some genuine Democrat" for President.

Three Demands

Invoking the memory of Jefferson, Jackson and Cleveland, the Smith statement issued in New York said that to be true to the Democratic party meant taking "the heavy hand of government off business," balancing the budget and the ending of dole conditions.

Other signers were former Sen. James A. Reed of Missouri, Bainbridge Colby of New York, former Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, and Daniel F. Cohalan of New York.

"If you fail," they said, "then patriotic voters of all parties will vote for Roosevelt."

CALIFORNIANS IN CAUCUS
One Offers Pension Plank

By LOYD B. DILBECK

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—Delegates from California arranged a caucus late today to discuss many things regarding the Democratic national convention.

The delegation was to select several committees, elect national committeeman and committee-woman, and possibly agree on platform policies as well as decide its attitude on whether the two-thirds voting rule should be abrogated.

At least one platform proposal from California has already been formulated. It calls for a plank endorsing $200 a month pensions for persons over 60 years of age, following the general lines of the bill introduced in congress by Rep. John Steven McGroarty of California. McGroarty's measure was based on the Townsend pension plan.

Fletcher W. Greer of Brawley formulated the plank and J. Stitt Wilson, California member of the national platform committee, has agreed to obtain for Greer a hearing on the proposal.

Greer yesterday called upon National Chairman Farley and gave notice of his intention to submit the plank. Farley, he said, did not seem enthusiastic about the proposal.

The message of Alfred E. Smith and others to the convention advocating nomination of a "genuine Democrat" in preference to President Roosevelt drew comment from Senator McCadoo.

The senator, who is chairman of the delegation, and California national committeeman, said: "Those fellows effaced themselves as Democrats so long ago that I don't think they are in any position to make recommendations to us."

Search for Taxi Suspect Continues

With Harold Marshall, 24, Laguna Beach taxi driver, reported showing improvement at St. Joseph's hospital, the search still went on today for Gerald Vance, 18, wanted for questioning in connection with the shooting and robbery of Marshall last Tuesday night.

Edgar "Don" DeBord, 18, is already in custody here, charged with robbery and assault with a deadly weapon. He told sheriff's officers Vance was with him on the night of the shooting.

Marshall was critically wounded by a bullet fired into his side, which pierced his spine. After two operations, however, he was reported gaining strength today.

'Red' Sailors in France Strike

PARIS. (AP)—Sailors aboard French ships in the harbor of Marseilles suddenly went on strike today and hoisted red flags on the masts.

The men refused to obey their officers' orders and blocked the officers when the latter tried to remove the banners on the instruction of ships' owners.

Fresh warnings of a continued "counter revolution" were hurled at the government today by militant nationalists. The threats came on the heels of hand-to-hand fighting in Paris streets yesterday between police and members of the Croix de Feu, an armed rightist league.

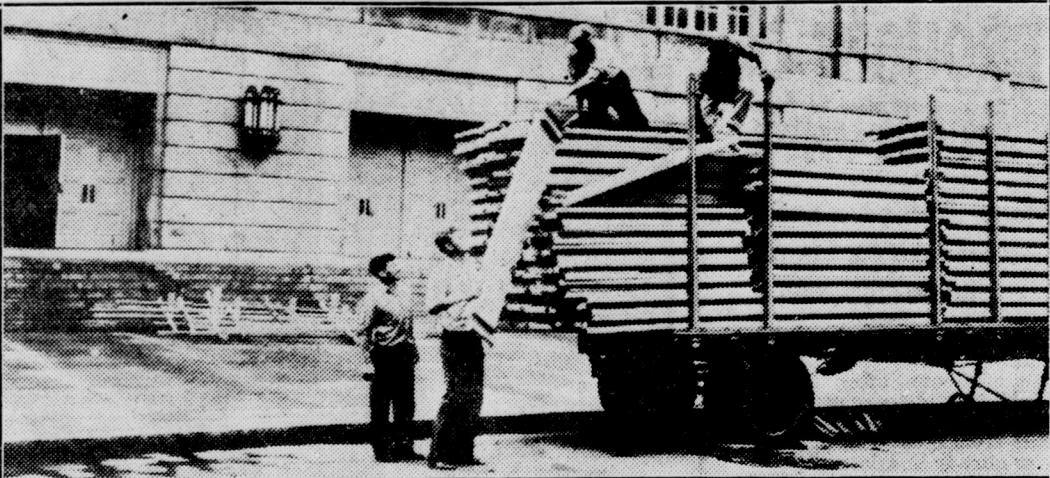

Estranged Wife Will Aid Slayer

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The estranged wife of Albert Walter, confessed slayer of Blanche Cousins of Idaho Falls, Idaho, notified Public Defender Gerald Kenny today she would come here to aid in the killer's defense.

Mrs. Angela Walter said she and her father-in-law were leaving Boston tomorrow.

QUARTET PLAYS AT CHURCH

Opening with the majestic "Marche Triomphale," by Levy, the Elwood Bear string quartet presented last night the first in a series of Sunday evening musicals to be held during the summer in connection with services at the Unitarian church.

"Theme" from Beethoven's Sonata Opus 26 was followed by "Andanti Cantabile" Dancila; Wagner's "Gebet," and excerpts from "Lohengrin," played as a string quartet arrangement with Elwood Bear carrying the first violin; Simon Plas, second; Leo Robbins, viola; and Anna May Archer, cello.

Alessio's "Serenata" and Gounod's "March Pontificale" completed the program. An ensemble of 10 musicians will play at 7:30 p. m. next Sunday.

"Paternalism in Government," the first of three Independence day sermons, was given by the Rev. Julia N. Budlong, in observance of Father's day.

Citing the story of the prodigal son, the minister concluded that a similar attitude on the part of government was impossible, and that fraternalism, rather than paternalism, was ideal for democracy. Will discuss the League of Nations next Sunday.

Hoepfel Raps Party Leaders

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Rep. John H. Hoepfel charged in a statement printed in the Congressional Record that the "power of patronage" and a "ruthless determination to destroy one who could not be controlled" promoted New Deal leaders to order his "persecution" on a conspiracy charge.

The California Democrat and a son, Charles, were tried and convicted last December of conspiring to sell an appointment to West Point to James W. Ives of Baltimore for $1000.

"God help our beloved country," Hoepfel said, "if we are to be subjected to a continuance of the Farley domination which has been so evident in the past and which will grow, like a mushroom, adding to the corruption of political life, and thus retard recovery."

His remarks were made in a 12-page discussion of his case in the appendix of the record.

Dardanelles Meet Is Under Guard

MONTREUX, Switzerland. (AP) Under heavy police protection, an international conference to consider Turkey's request to rejoin the Dardanelles opened in the Palace hotel here late today.

The extraordinary precautions were the result of rumors at Geneva of plots against members of the Soviet delegation, and of memories that the Soviet delegate, Vorovsky, was assassinated at Lausanne in 1923 during a previous Straits conference.

Local Attorney Rescues Bathers

Loren Smith, local attorney, got himself in the ranks of the life-savers yesterday, even though his suit of clothes got awfully wet.

Plunging into the water at Balboa yesterday afternoon, Smith dragged two Orange boys to safety after they had struggled in deep water. They were Harold Martin, 16, and Myron Martin, 13, who had gone beyond their depth near the bridge across the bay.

MORE ABOUT DEMOCRATS

know unhesitatingly to what standard they must rally in order to preserve the America of the great leaders of the past."

What G. O. P. Thinks
The whole situation was thrown into the presidential campaign itself. Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, speaking at Topeka as the Republican nominee, said each citizen would have to decide for himself the "demarcation between fealty to party and country."

In Massachusetts, Col. Frank Knox, the Republican vice presidential nominee, said Roosevelt's chances of re-election were damaged. But Norman Thomas, the Socialist presidential nominee in New York, said the Smith statement would win the New Deal two votes for every one lost.

A third member of an old team of the Empire state Democracy, Gov. Herbert Lehman, took his stand emphatically with the New Deal when he arrived here today. Many were the times Lehman, Roosevelt and Smith campaigned successfully together before the present threats of Democratic disunion.

Talmadge Wants Fight
Where the 1928 presidential nominee had hinted of enlisting under another "standard," Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia—another administration critic—urged from Atlanta that Smith join him in a "fight within the party."

While the discussion widened, all but the final formalities were set for beginning the convention tomorrow.

Senator Wagner of New York, presumably with a Roosevelt-approved platform draft in his pocket, was expected by late afternoon.

50 to Second It
Having to force his way with handshakes through a hotel lobby overflowing with delegates and sightseers, the smiling Farley told a press conference of plans to have Governors Lehman, McNutt of Indiana, Graves of Alabama and others to join the parade of 50 speeches seconding the renomination of the President.

The cause for repeal of the two-thirds nominating rule picked up its support from the party veteran, Josephus Daniels, of North Carolina. Farley reminded that this was "a Democratic convention" and said the contest was "wide open."

The party platform is being written at the White House, the administration proposal to change the party nominating rules is expected to triumph easily, and the way seems entirely clear for the renomination of Roosevelt and Garner before the week-end.

Committee Meets
The only convention business today was a meeting of the national committee to consider delegate contests from Minnesota, Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone.

Other business was afoot, however, in the crowded hotels where the state chieftains assembled for a preview of the week's renomination ceremonies.

* Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri, who will be chairman of the rules committee, went into consultation measuring the opposition to the Roosevelt plan of scrapping the ancient two-thirds rule, which once deprived his own father, Champ Clark, of a presidential nomination. Some southern delegations want to keep the rule, which requires a two-thirds vote instead of a simple majority, to nominate. A floor fight is indicated, but the Roosevelt men say they have the votes, and to spare.

Opens Tomorrow
Farley plans to call the convention together tomorrow at 11 a. m. (8 a. m. Santa Ana time) for a brief, routine session at which a welcome will be extended by the Republican city administration.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, in the keynote at the evening session, and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, a "mummers parade," selection of a convention queen, a prize-fight, golf club courtesies, baseball, a scrapple breakfast for women delegates tomorrow, a buffet supper for them in the later afternoon, hand and orchestra concerts—these constitute only a portion of the program.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Gileglio funeral chapel, Orange, in charge of the Rev. Arthur T. Hobson, pastor of the Methodist church. Entombment will be made in Angeles Abbey mausoleum, Compton.

Report 64 Signed Up for Camps

With a total enrollment to date of 64, the camp program for boys and girls sponsored by the coordinating council, will open the second week of July. Twenty-two boys have signed up to attend Rokit from July 6 to August 10, and 40 girls have registered for Camp Irvine.

Harrison White, scout executive, said Ray Dawson will take charge of athletics. Miss Elsie Belle Hurd is now in the scout offices to take registrations. She will have charge of the girls' program, aided by Charlotte Mock and Jean McAuley. It is necessary for parents to come to the office to help register their children.

Louis Knockout to Be Shown Here

Fight pictures, showing round-by-round action up to Max Schmeling's knockout over Joe Louis in the 12th, were billed for two showings today at the West Coast and Broadway theaters.

The sports attraction was booked for 2:35 p. m. and 8:45 p. m. at the West Coast. It will be shown at 3:40 p. m. and 9 p. m. at the Broadway. The film will remain here for one week.

Carton on Stove Cause of Fire

A cardboard carton left on a stove burst into flames yesterday afternoon at 417 West Pine street, and city firemen were called out to put out the fire. No damage was reported. Mrs. Lou Dahms is owner of the house.

A lighted cigar tossed out of an upstairs window yesterday caused slight damage to an awning at the Otis building, firemen reported.

is assuming the permanent chairmanship Wednesday night, will review the record and call for a redoubled fight to keep the administration at Washington.

The platform is expected to be adopted Thursday evening. The speech nominating the President to be made by Judge John E. Mack of New York Friday morning and the renomination will follow.

Visitors from among the 38 Democratic governors were the honored guests today. After a dinner by Mayor S. Davis Wilson, they will be feted at a ceremony tonight in Independence hall. The Liberty Bell will be tapped in their honor.

A "mummers parade," selection of a convention queen, a prize-fight, golf club courtesies, baseball, a scrapple breakfast for women delegates tomorrow, a buffet supper for them in the later afternoon, hand and orchestra concerts—these constitute only a portion of the program.

SUNFLOWER TO BE EMBLEM

Have you got a little sunflower in your garden?

If so, here's your chance to cash in on it. A reward will be given the person bringing the largest sunflower to the Republican rally slated for Thursday evening at the American Legion hall, Chairman Franklin G. West of the committee on arrangements said today.

West said that plans were being completed to make the affair one of the most successful of its kind ever held in recent years; and the committee wants bigger and better sunflowers, the Republican emblem this year, to decorate the hall.

The rally is to be held in honor of Judge R. Y. Williams and Sen. N. T. Edwards, county delegates to the Republican national convention. About 350 are expected to attend.

Ted Craig, Brea, will be master of ceremonies. Howard Irwin is general chairman. The rally is being arranged under the auspices of the Orange county Republican central committee and the California Republican assembly.

Elliott to Head County Employees

County courthouse employees enjoyed a picnic Saturday evening at Irvine park. A potluck supper was served at 6:30 p. m. to more than 500 employees and their families.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Jesse L. Elliott, president; James Sleeper, vice president, and Earl Abbey, secretary-treasurer.

The program consisted of vaudeville acts by Fanchon and Marco, with several local entertainers. Following the program an orchestra provided music for dancing.

Earl Abbey had charge of arrangements.

To Appeal Case Against Doctor

Balked by a jury last week in her $30,000 damage suit against Dr. Ralph Duncan, Placentia physician, Nopli Dunn today gave notice, through her attorneys, J. F. Conkey and William L. Waters, that she will move for a new trial.

Her complaint charged that improper treatment of a sprained wrist disabled her hand and arm. Her motion will be on ground there were irregularities in court procedure and that she has new evidence to support her claim. A jury found in favor of Dr. Duncan June 16.

Urges Opposition To Single Tax

Social revolution and communism would be inevitable results of establishing the single land tax in California, Neill Davis, officer of the California Building-Loan league, told members of the Orange county league at a dinner meeting Thursday evening in Hughes cafe.

Every vote for repeal of the sales tax, on the ballot November 3, will be a vote for establishment of the single land tax, Davis said.

Wording of the amendment, he declared, makes it impossible to repeal the sales tax without placing a tax burden of more than $370,000,000 annually on California land. Less than $50,000,000 would be derived from other state taxes, he said.

FINGER INJURED ON SLIDE AT PARK

Zippering down a slide at Irvine park Saturday was lots of fun for Mrs. Ida Tyle, Compton—until her finger got jammed at the side of the incline as she was going down.

Physicians at the county hospital yesterday had to amputate one joint of the third finger on Mrs. Tyle's left hand.

REPORTED MISSING

Police and sheriff's officers today were asked to search for Lewis Page, 17, route 3, Santa Ana, reported missing from his home since yesterday.

Freak Storm Here Fails to Startle

An uneventful freak thunderstorm struck Santa Ana at 2:40 a. m. Sunday. No damage was reported to either police or the sheriff's offices. Weather instruments did not record enough rain to measure. In a few cases sleep was interrupted by the thunder and lightning.

A similar storm in Los Angeles was more serious. There lightning set fire to the roof of a house and also struck a streetcar, injuring two passengers.

Wedding Guest Met by Police

Weddings are supposed to be healthy only for the bride and bridegroom.

A wedding Saturday night, however, turned out badly for one of the spectators. He was Edwin E. Heacock, 38, Honolulu engineer, who found himself ushered—with out music—out and to the police station. He posted $500 bail on a failure to provide warrant from Glendale.

REPORT GIVEN ON TAX PLAN

City merchandising problems and reports of Saturday's meeting of the Southern California Economic council by delegates from here occupied the board of directors of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce at their regular meeting today.

The economic council, Delegates W. C. Jerome and Howard I. Wood told the board, unanimously adopted a resolution urging that relief be returned to the counties, and that SRA be abandoned as soon as possible.

Delegates Listed
Rex Thompson of the Los Angeles welfare department told delegates to the meeting that relief was taking from 40 to 60 per cent of all government budgets at the present time, and was rapidly growing to the point where it would be impossible to keep it up.

Delegates from this county included Wood, Jerome, Rex Kennedy, R. C. Hoiles, Harry May of Fullerton and V. D. Johnson of Orange. Ross Shafer was chairman of the Orange county group.

To Make Report
The chamber also studied plans for spreading merchandise activity in the city over the entire week. The question of whether Santa Ana is becoming a "Saturday night" town was discussed.

At the next meeting of the chamber a forum discussion of the problem will be held, with local merchants contributing, Wood announced.

Jerome also reported on the plan for re-centralization of county government which he and Wood have sponsored. They were delegated to write a complete report, which will be sent to other chambers, members of the economic council, and government officials of the state.

HEARS APPEAL
Superior Judge James L. Allen this afternoon was hearing testimony in the appeal of Arthur Koepsel, Tustin, from a $30.04 judgment rendered against him in favor of Lester E. Cline, Los Angeles, in the Tustin justice court for damages to Cline's automobile. Justice D. J. Dodge of Costa Mesa heard the original motion. The accident, the only serious

LEMKIE FACES HURDLES IN ELECTION

Laws of Many States to Bar His Candidacy on Third Party

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Representative William Lemke of North Dakota faced a series of hurdles today in his Union party campaign for the presidency.

Leaders here said he was destined to lose chances in several states because of laws barring entry of a new party in the campaign at this late date. There were indications in other quarters, too, that some effort might be made by Democrats to crowd him aside by filing Democratic candidates under a Union party label as well as under Democratic designation. This would prevent Lemke using his party's name in such states.

However, Lemke had encouragement from Dr. Francis E. Townsend, who said in New York last night that he would grant personal support to Lemke if he "accepts unequivocally the old age pension idea."

Langer Trying for Comeback in N. D.

BISMARCK, N. D., (AP)—The presidential aspirations of Congressman William Lemke shared interest today with the attempted political comeback of former Gov. William Langer in Wednesday's state primary election.

Although Lemke is the Union party's candidate for President, he seeks to retain his seat in congress. His renomination will be automatic since he has no opponent on the Republican ballot. But observers promise to study his vote-getting powers as a possible measuring rod of his strength.

The question of whether his name could legally be printed on the November ballot as both a presidential and congressional contender remained unanswered. Attorney General P. O. Sathre said he would not rule on the matter unless an official opinion was requested.

Langer is seeking the Republican nomination for governor. His opponent is Gov. Walter Welford. Both have been endorsed by opposing factions of the Nonpartisan league, which dominates Republican politics in this state.

Langer was removed from the governor's office two years ago after he had been indicted on a charge of soliciting political funds from federal relief workers. After three federal court trials he was acquitted.

WISCONSIN FEDERATION SPURNS LEMKE AID

OSHKOSH, Wis., (AP)—Spurning pleas for support of Cong. William Lemke and his new Union party, the Wisconsin Farmer-Labor Progressive Federation yesterday balked on its first major political campaign today.

The organization—formed six months ago by leaders of the Progressive and Socialist parties, the State Federation of Labor and farm groups unanimously tabled at its convention yesterday a resolution advocating aid for the Lemke forces.

Mexico Officials Nabbed for Gaming

GUADALAJARA, Jalisco, Mex. (AP)—City and state officials were among 100 persons arrested today in a gambling raid staged by military authorities.

Held for violation of gambling laws were the mayor, the chief of police, the chief of detectives, a senator, two congressmen, a former governor, and agents for the department of agriculture and welfare association. Military authorities ordered the raids in conformity with Mexico's policy to prohibit certain forms of gambling.

WOMAN FLIES FAR

Having flown from Paris to Madagascar piloting a single-engine plane, Madame Fint recently arrived at the lonely grave of her husband, the well known French pilot, who had been buried when his plane crashed near Mosh. The journey occupied seven days, and is believed to be a record for a woman's flight. She was accompanied part of the way by another plane. On her flight she stopped at Madagascar, where she was much feted. From there she chartered a special plane to take her to Mosh. After a brief service at the grave she started to fly back to Paris.

MORE ABOUT PLATFORM

committee chairman, said he saw "no reason" in the Lemke movement for "rearming our plans," and there were potent strategists who felt the party had already won the great bulk of "liberals" and must cater to the followers of Smith and his group.

Glass Is Supporter

Arrival of Senator Carter Glass of Virginia was expected to bolster the latter viewpoint. The peppy senator, a member of every platform committee since 1896, wrote the monetary plank four years ago. He has often criticized New Deal measures, but will support the Roosevelt ticket.

Clashing pressure from the "left" and "right" was centering on the monetary plank, and a few others, including the farm, constitution and social security programs. Foreign affairs, monopoly, and labor were other possible fighting issues.

It was recalled that there also was a clash between "liberal" and "conservative" opinion among the Republicans at Cleveland two weeks ago and that a frank compromise platform resulted.

Writers Have Advantage

Democratic platform writers had the advantage of seeing the political battlefield from closer range. The Republican strategy was already before them. Lemke's program was down in black and white. The Smith group had spoken.

Chiefly the issue confronting the platform committee and later the convention was whether to stand on the New Deal as now outlined, or advance. The reception given the Smith statement by commenting leaders showed little disposition to go back.

One of the most apparent sectors for an advance was the farm front. Many Democrats felt the Republicans had approached them on this issue and a new step forward was necessary. There were proposals for a new scheme of crop insurance to protect farmers against droughts and other "acts of God" that produce bad years.

Talk Crop Insurance

Secretary Wallace and Chester Davis, former AAA administrator, were authorized by said to be friendly to a crop insurance plank, but those who participated in the recent White House conference on the farm plank said it was not discussed.

The White House platform was said to contain a broad declaration of principles on the farm question, rural electrification, cooperative organizations, credit for farm tenants, reciprocal trade agreement, and higher wages for urban workers.

Little authoritative information was available here on other planks in the administrative platform, but it was reported to contain strong neutrality, anti-monopoly, labor and social security planks, with emphasis throughout on the power of the federal government to deal with the social and economic problems.

No Amendment Likely

Informed leaders said there was little likelihood of any declaration for a constitutional amendment.

Recently expressed view that the constitution was broad enough to give the needed power would be adopted.

Finishing touches were understood to have been applied to the administration draft at a White House conference last night between the President and Wagner.

Four Planks Pushed

Regardless of what was finally determined, delegates here were ready to ask for planks indorsing the Townsend old age pension plan, declaring for bi-metallic money, "absolute neutrality" and government control of the soft coal industry.

The Townsend plan was being pushed by F. W. Greer, California Democrat; the bi-metallic money by Senator Elmer Thomas, of Oklahoma; neutrality by Senator Homer Bone of Washington, a member of the resolutions committee; and coal regulation by Senator Joseph Guiffy of Pennsylvania, author of the law invalidated by the supreme court.

Blanchard Beatty, the blond ex-Trojan who has migrated from the Dons to Oceanside to the Dons again within two years, is rated by A. J. Beatty played safety for the Dons in '27, Cook's first season here. . . during these nine autumns the junior collegians have had some excellent quarterbacks, among them Harold (Hal) Welty, the 1933 triple-threat whom A. Orville Schuchardt, '29, patrol centerfielder for Huntington Beach's National league champs, and Dante Stracusa, '32, plays second base for Huntington Beach's Class B Oilers. Wayne Garlock, '29, played shortstop for the Santa Ana Elks last year before moving to Los Angeles. . . Beatty, an expert at passing and punting, will assist Cook with his 1936 backfield. CUBS BEATEN AFTER 15TH VICTORY

Dodgers Halt Chicago 6-4; Vaughan's Home Runs Sink Phillies

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The peil-mell winning streak of the Chicago Cubs, like all good things, has come to an end, but lingering on is the evidence that Mr. Charley Grimm and company is more than ever the outfit to beat in the National league pennant wars.

After four other clubs had failed, it took the lowly Brooklyn Dodgers, deep in the cellar, to stop the Cubs' victory run at 15 straight yesterday, with Van Lingle Mungo, one-man revolution and Dodger "goat" of only last week, cast in the role of hero.

Go Down Fighting
So much has the just-ended drive resembled the Cubs' great 1935 stretch stand, that the odds on the Wrigley Field fliers have been brought down to somewhere slightly above two to one, while those on the Cards, the pre-season choice, are headed way up the ladder.

The Cubs went down fighting yesterday, losing 6-4 in the nightcap of a twin bill on the strength of three runs scored by the Brooklyn, after Curt Davis had turned in a neat 5-hit pitching job to take the opener 7-2.

By losing the second game, the Cubs missed out on a chance to break the league lead, for the Cardinals got their ears pinned back by Bill Terry's Giants for the second straight day, dropping a 6-4 decision when Travis Jackson's homer with two on sewed up the New York victory.

Pirates Advance
As it was, the Cubs stayed a half-game back in second place, just a game in front of the pouncing Pittsburgh Pirates, who nosed out the Phillies 7-6 in a battle of homers in which Arky Vaughan hammered out a pair.

A homer also decided the other National League game, with Wally Berger clubbing the four-bagger to give the Boston Bees their series over the Reds with a final 3-2 win. The Reds lost not only the game, but their catcher, Ernie Lombardi, as well, when a foul tip injured his finger.

Tigers Trim Yankees
The Yankees, meantime, were dropping their second straight decision to the supposedly slipping Detroit Tigers, despite Joe Di Maggio's home run. The loss, however, only cut a half-game off the Yanks' five-game American league lead, since the second-place Red Sox could get no better than an even break in their double bill with the cellar-dwelling St. Louis Browns, who won the nightcap 6-3, after Wes Ferrell turn in the day's best pitching performance in the opener, allowing but two hits in a 3-0 shutout.

RIGGS SWEEPS TO NET UPSET

CHICAGO, (AP)—The Far West held a secure grip on national clay courts tennis honors today. Robert Riggs of Los Angeles, national junior champion, captured the clay courts singles title yesterday in a smashing, straight set victory over the odds-on favorite, Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, the nation's No. 7 ranking star and seeded first for the tourney. The scores were 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

In doubles, Riggs paired with Wayne Sabin of Hollywood to win the title from John McDiarmid of Chicago and Eugene McCauliffe of New York, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4, 7-5.

Riggs, in beating Parker, was better than his well known opponent in all phases of the game. He used a "soft" game effectively and in the final set, with Parker ahead, 5-3, won the title by taking the final four games.

OLYMPIC PREVIEW
Nazis, Swedes on Top in Field; Finland Seems Sure of Javelin

By GAYLE TALBOT
BERLIN (AP)—European jealousy of America's athletic supremacy, demonstrated in one Olympiad after another, reaches the boiling point at Uncle Sam's ability to produce champion hurdlers, high-jumpers and pole-vaulters.

Only England, with its Lord Burghley, has been able to give America's timber-toppers a run for their money in the past, and no European nation has yet developed any high-jumpers or vaulters worth their salt. They have no hope of offering the American stars any real opposition in these events in the coming Olympic Games at Berlin.

All other branches of track and field they can learn, but something about vaulting, jumping and hurdling escapes them. Probably the secret lies in the lack of able coaching. Whatever it is, a 12-foot-6-inch vaulter can win almost any meet he enters in England, and so can a 5-foot-6-inch jumper. They are but little better on the continent.

The best high-jumper the Americans will have to beat at Berlin appears to be Kurt Lundquist, of Sweden, whose best recorded effort is 6 feet 4 inches. That isn't high enough. Neither is the 13-foot-7-inch vaulter, likewise credited to a Swede, Bo Ljungberg.

Europe 'Hot' in Field
When it comes to hurdling, the topnotch European threat in the 400 meters is believed to be Ernst Leitner, an Austrian, whose fastest time and national record is 54.6 seconds. Glenn Hardin set an Olympic mark of 52 flat in the Los Angeles Games. Hakan Lidman of Sweden, with a recorded time of 14.6 seconds in the 110-meter hurdles, is a smooth performer and the only European candidate likely to give the Americans a brush at Berlin.

The heavier field events—the discus, shot-put, hammer-throw and javelin, as well as in the broadjump, hop-step-and-jump and decathlon—the European lads, with a little help from Japan and Australia, figure to make things hot for the best America can produce.

The discus, in particular, looks like a fight between Germany and Sweden, while the javelin doubtless will go to a son of Finland, as usual. Germany has in Willi Schroeder the claimant of the world discus record, with a distance of 174 feet, 3 inches. Sweden has Harald Andersson, winner of the event at Los Angeles, who sailed the platter exactly 174 feet in one meet last year, and who averaged 164 feet in 60 meets. Sweden calls Schroeder's record "dubious."

Finland in Javelin
Finland counts on Matti Jarvinen, who heaved the javelin a prodigious 238 feet in 1934 at Los Angeles, to repeat his victory without removing his sweater. Gunnar Jansson of Sweden threw the hammer 174 feet the other day, which should be sufficient. Europe's broad-jumping hopes

CHICAGO, (AP)—The 1936 crop of collegiate track and field stars look very good to Avery Brundage, chairman of the American Olympic committee.

Many athletes who competed here Saturday in the 15th annual National Collegiate A. A. track and field championship, he believes, have excellent chances of representing Uncle Sam at Berlin this summer.

"But they will meet hard competition in the finals in New York July 11-12," he said, "and older, more experienced performers may be hard to beat."

In the collegiate meet Southern California took the team title, with Ohio State second and Indiana third. Jesse Owens of Ohio State won four championships, as expected. TIERNAN'S NINE OUTHITS Colored Belles From Los Angeles, 17-9

Tiernan's Typists were angling today for a return game with Adams' Bandits, Los Angeles' colored girls' team which was overwhelmed by Santa Ana's softball sisters, 18 to 6, before a crowd of 300 here Saturday night. The return game will be played at the White Sox park in Los Angeles at a date to be arranged soon by Manager Ben (Bomo) Koral of the Tiernan Typists.

Miss Marie Brown, third-baseman, led the Tiernan assault with four beautiful bunts and a single for a perfect night at the plate; and the Misses Katherine Dahm, Mary Miller, Jean Giddings and Bobby Wakeham each shelled the offerings of the negro slingers for two hits apiece.

Tiernan's outhit the chocolate-colored girls, 17 to 9.

An automobile wreck delayed the appearance of the negro girls, who showed up with only nine players and seven managers at 9 o'clock. The crowd, which gathered around 8:15, were entertained by Danny Frias, 18-year-old midget mascot of the Santa Ana Stars, who batted flies and wagged Frias couldn't catch them.

Hare of Great Britain, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4, in the first round of the all-England tennis championships today, but his fellow Californian, Gerald Stratford, was eliminated by the defending champion, Fred Perry of England, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

Bryan M. Grant, tiny mite from Atlanta, made his debut by eliminating Heiner Henkel, German Davis cup singles ace, 5-7, 3-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-2.

Gene Mako of Los Angeles won his first round match from Laurie Shaffi of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-0, 6-4.

Wilmer Allison, American champion, was in erratic form and was hard-pressed to turn back Robert Mulliken, former English junior champion, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

Adrian Quist, Australia, defeated Norman Taylor, Great Britain, 6-2, 6-0, 6-4.
John Van Ryn of Philadelphia won his first-round match from Roland Morton of England, 6-3, 8-6, 6-2.

W. W. Robertson, a lesser light among the Americans, was beaten by L. De Borman of Belgium, 2-6, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

GIANTS MEET AT HIGHWAY 101 ARENA

Christy Draws Hanson, Lutz Faces Bartush in Secondary Bouts

Giant Thor Johnson, 365-pound Swede who appears more formidable than the celebrated Man Mountain Dean, will supply the acid test to the latest sensation of the heavyweight division, Don Juan Olaquival-Pico, in the feature three-fall tussle at the Orange County Athletic club tonight.

Johnson, who begged for a crack at Dean last week, offering to wrestle for nothing, is so huge and strong that neither Mayes McLain, the blond Indian, nor Paul Matan could budge him in recent bouts. McLain, considered a fairly good grappler, couldn't get Johnson off his feet and was pinned so fast he was bewildered. Matan received the same treatment.

Wins 180 Bouts
Now comes Olaquival-Pico, the man whom many claim is destined to win the world heavyweight title from Vincent Lopez. Pico is undefeated in more than 180 bouts. He scored three convincing wins here, scoring over Bill Sledge, Bill Bartush and Casey Colombo, beating the latter in straight falls and with the ease of a giant pinning a baby.

Tonight Pico, who scales 225 pounds to Johnson's 365, will have the edge in speed, youth and cunning. Also Pico has a wider variety of holds and maneuvers. Johnson depends upon his size and strength, coupled with a paralyzing overhead body slam.

Christy vs. Hanson
Aside from the fact that fans want to see just what Johnson can do and if Pico is the next contender for Champion Lopez' crown, the main event offers no more than the other three star bouts which show the difference between the more colorful performers, and a man who extended Lopez here little more than a month ago, battling the undefeated Bill Hanson, popular Salt Lake grappler; Nick Lutze, the biggest drawing card and most liked of Orange county heavyweights, tangled with Bill Bartush, and Baby Bob Coleman opposing the long-haired Wildman Zinn of Hollywood and waystations.

The winner of the main event has been promised a match with Lopez, provided his championship is not sidetracked meanwhile, as all three want the fling at the winner before Lopez.

Portland Continues Spectacular Rise
By the Associated Press
Surging upward on a winning streak which gained 12 victories in the last 14 starts, the Portland Beavers stormed the third spot in the Coast league today, less than a half game from the Seattle Indians and San Francisco Missions.

Miss Marie Brown, third-baseman, led the Tiernan assault with four beautiful bunts and a single for a perfect night at the plate; and the Misses Katherine Dahm, Mary Miller, Jean Giddings and Bobby Wakeham each shelled the offerings of the negro slingers for two hits apiece.

Tiernan's outhit the chocolate-colored girls, 17 to 9.

An automobile wreck delayed the appearance of the negro girls, who showed up with only nine players and seven managers at 9 o'clock. The crowd, which gathered around 8:15, were entertained by Danny Frias, 18-year-old midget mascot of the Santa Ana Stars, who batted flies and wagged Frias couldn't catch them.

CHICAGO, (AP)—The 1936 crop of collegiate track and field stars look very good to Avery Brundage, chairman of the American Olympic committee.

Many athletes who competed here Saturday in the 15th annual National Collegiate A. A. track and field championship, he believes, have excellent chances of representing Uncle Sam at Berlin this summer.

"But they will meet hard competition in the finals in New York July 11-12," he said, "and older, more experienced performers may be hard to beat."

In the collegiate meet Southern California took the team title, with Ohio State second and Indiana third. Jesse Owens of Ohio State won four championships, as expected. Ken Carpenter of Southern California bettered the world's discus record with a toss of 173 feet, and Alton Terry of Harding-Simmons threw the javelin 228 feet 2½ inches for a new meet record. Owens stepped the 100 meters run in 10.2, clipping a tenth of a second off the accepted world mark and equalling Ralph Metcalfe's N. C. A. A. record.

Don Lash of Indiana, who recently ran the two miles faster than it ever has been run before outdoors, was first in the 5000 meters run

Annexation of adjoining territory by grasping municipalities has never been a popular issue with those on the "outside" which perhaps explains why so many annexation movements are defeated at the polls.

However, in Laguna Beach there is a man who believes that mutual interests would be greatly benefited if South Laguna and Emerald Bay become parts of the art colony. His name is Andrew S. Hall, well known community builder, now serving as manager of the First Federal Savings and Loan association of Laguna Beach. He does not want to force his ideas on anyone nor is he willing to head any annexation movement. He merely wants to plant the thought in the minds of those who are directly concerned.

Here are some of his reasons for wanting to see the three sections of the coastline developed as one municipality—a bigger and better Laguna.

Firstly, consolidation of the three residence sections into one city would give Laguna Beach a better and more effective representation in the affairs of the county as well as the state, an important factor when considering that Laguna is destined to become the center of the Pacific Riviera.

Secondly, such a merger of community interests into one political subdivision, would as a matter of course give the city of Laguna Beach more funds to operate with, which in turn would mean better municipal services, particularly fire and police protection. In all probability there would be sufficient funds for maintaining an adequate police force as well as a regular city fire department.

Moreover, "Andy" pointed out, the extension of the city limits to include Emerald Bay and South Laguna would make the boundaries of the municipality and the school district coterminous, another important factor in selecting representation on the city council and the school board. Laguna Beach's chamber of commerce, more than now, would become a real clearing house for community problems as would the realty board and the Parent-Teachers associations within their respective fields of activity.

As "Andy" said before, he has no desire to start any campaigning, he merely wishes to plant the thought.

As an afterthought, "Andy" added that with the making of a larger community, the management of the Western Union perhaps would find it advantageous to establish a separate telephone office in the center of the business district.

That Sunday afternoon outgoing mail dispatch for which the Laguna Beach chamber has been making representations for some time past, and now reported to be on the way, can't come fast enough for the local merchants. The sooner the better, they say. Such a service, it is explained by its proponents, will not only be a big help to local business men but also prove an equally valuable accommodation to out-of-town professional and business men, maintaining beach homes here. With the new Sunday outgoing mail, the latter would be able to spend the week-end in Laguna and at the same time give attention to business correspondence requiring prompt action.

Superintendent Linton T. Simmons of the Laguna Beach school district is another man with ideas along the line of progress and development. If he had his way, and if funds, by way of gifts or donations, could be obtained for the purpose, the school district in every high school throughout the country, would be free to travel to some foreign country. Student travel on an extensive scale, he believes, would be a big factor in promoting peace and international good will as well as insure a better and more intelligent understanding of the other fellow's problems across the border, or the water.

TWO RESCUED IN LAGUNA BREAKERS

Screen Star Pulls Boy to Safety; Rip - Tides Cause Warnings

Beaches from Malibu to San Clemente were thronged with thousands of sun-seekers yesterday, as temperatures soared under a summer sun.

Thousands filled the open strand at Orange county beaches. Violent rip tides which struck farther north were missing along the local beaches, as only two rescues were reported over the week-end. There were no fatalities here.

Saturday Jean Fontaine, stage and screen actress, dashed into the surf at Laguna to rescue a small boy caught in the undertow beyond the breakers. Miss Fontaine, the wife of Chick Chandler, screen comedian, held the boy up until help reached her. The name of the boy was not learned.

Miss Fontaine, who is convalescing from a recent operation, was lying on the sand when she heard the boy's cries for help and dived into the water after him. She and the boy were pulled to safety by Chandler.

Yesterday Mrs. Martha Aple, 26, of 4481 Orange avenue, Riverside, became exhausted while swimming at Laguna, and was rescued by Joseph Sullivan of Los Angeles, her brother-in-law. After first aid treatment and examination by a physician she was reported out of danger.

More than 100,000 were reported by life-guards to have jammed beaches in this county. More than 50 were rescued at other points, while rip tides and a strong current caused guards to post warning signs and double their vigilance.

TITLES GIVEN 3 PROPOSALS

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Proposals to amend the state constitution by providing general old age pensions, heavily taxing chain stores and fixing wage and hours scales for labor have been given titles as initiative measures by Attorney General U. S. Webb.

All these measures were proposed by Irving Newton of Los Angeles. Newton's pension proposal would put a 10 per cent sales tax on wholesalers and retailers to provide a pension of $100 a month for single persons and $150 a month for married couples over 60. The pension would go to rich and poor, on condition they withdraw from industry and agree to spend the money inside the state as fast as they get it.

The measure entitled "labor and business regulations" would regulate hours of business, conduct of business and theaters nights and Sundays, and fix minimum wages and maximum hours of labor.

The chain store measure is entitled "licensing stores," and provides for a license of $5 for each theater and place of business which is a single unit.

The license fee would be $100 for a second establishment under the same ownership, $1000 for each additional unit up to 9; $1500 from the tenth to nineteenth unit, and $2500 for twentieth and over. Sixty per cent of the proceeds would go to pay old age pensions.

ANNOUNCE NEW TEACHERS ON H. B. HIGH FACULTY

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Two new teachers will join the high school faculty and one will not return for the fall semester, according to announcement of the school officials.

Edwin Elliott, former principal of the Torrance Junior High school and a Stanford graduate, has been engaged to teach algebra, history and physical education.

Alvin Rebohn, former Santa Ana Junior college coach and teacher, will have full charge of the swimming teams and pool and will coach varsity football. Both appointments were approved at the last meeting of the school board.

H. B. OIL WORK ORANGE GIRL UNDER WAY WEDS SOON

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The steel derrick on the Shell Oil company lease a mile east of Huntington Beach went up Sunday. Rigging up the derrick is proceeding rapidly. This project is located in a place where the dynamite testers claim a structure exists between two faults, much after the manner of the Seal Beach oil field.

The area has been closely leased by the major companies, the Shell and the Union holding the territory practically solid. It is supposed the structure extends from Five Points across the country to the easterly portion of the Costa Mesa area. In the Costa Mesa area are many small tracts that land owners have not leased.

ORANGE.—An invitation was dispatched Saturday to Gov. Frank F. Merriam, by V. D. Johnson, secretary of the chamber of commerce, to be present at the Plaza dedication celebration, scheduled for July 10. Other high state officials were also included in the invitation.

Tentative plans include a dinner at 6:30 given by the combined service clubs, with the governor and party as guests. It was also suggested that Mayor A. C. Boice and city council members assist in the program. In the event that the service clubs do not sponsor the dinner, a banquet would be given the guests with a limited number of invitations to be issued.

Boys Find $30 While Looking For Little Box

ANAHEIM.—Two little Mexican boys were looking for a little box in a pile of rubbish in the alley south of East Center street Friday night.

They stumbled on $30. Today Mrs. R. C. Douthitt, co-proprietor of the Health Food store, 228 East Center street, has made a new vow to examine all trash closely before she throws it out.

The $30, in small bills, had been thrown into Mrs. Douthitt's wastebasket when she cleaned up for dinner. Some passersby saw the boys find the money and called police. Mrs. Douthitt got her money back.

CIVIL SERVICE GRANGE TOPIC

WINTERSBURG.—The Wintersburg grange met in regular session recently with Master Robert Wardlow presiding. It was decided to hold the summer picnic at a time convenient for State Master Schlemmer's visit in July.

Many visitors from Centralia, Garden Grove and Tustin units were present who participated in the social hour. Mrs. Della Walker, lecturer, appointed Mrs. Charles Decker and Mrs. Roy Corry as captains to choose sides and the entire grange, including visitors, enjoyed an old fashioned spelling match.

The lecturer then launched a junior debating team with the following resolutions for discussion: "Resolved: that civil service for all government employees is far superior to the present 'spoils' system of appointments. June Corry will captain the affirmative, and Verna Graser the negative side.

Master Davis invited all to the Centralia pot-luck and social program of their grange tonight at 8:30 o'clock. W. O. Eades, a candidate for 75th district assembly, was present during the evening. Master Wardlow announced the Pomona meeting at La Habra, June 23, at 7:30 p. m.

HOSKINS GETS APPOINTMENT

ANAHEIM.—Acting Postmaster Louis H. Hoskins, appointed to that post several months ago, today can point with pride to his shortened, and official, title of "postmaster."

Associated Press reports yesterday stated that President Roosevelt had sent Hoskins' name to the senate for confirmation.

There had been some question about the confirmation of appointment, inasmuch as Hoskins had failed to be included among the three obtaining the highest grades in the examination of applicants for the position.

BEACH BANS DOGS

LAGUNA BEACH.—Sign boards directing dog owners to keep their pets off the beach except when on leash, were posted today by the police department for the entire length of the beach. Inquiries at the police department brought out that loose dogs will be picked up by the police. Considerable difficulty is experienced by the police, however, in handling the situation due to the lack of an animal shelter or other satisfactory facilities.

TIDELAND OIL QUESTION UP AT H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The question of tideland oil is bothering city officials here again. The official family of Huntington Beach again is considering ways and means of participating in royalties from oil taken from beneath tidelands fronting the city.

New attention was directed toward the oil situation with the filing of initiative petitions at Sacramento designed to legalize slant drilling for oil in tideland areas.

The new law, officials assert, would legalize nearly 80 slant-drilled wells in the Huntington Beach town lot section, wells which were sent wandering out beneath the ocean to pick up the "black gold" and bring it back to shore.

The state, through court action, has closed many of these wells, while others have been forced to pay heavy royalties to the state to continue operation. The city has tried futilely to obtain a portion of the revenue.

FORUM MEETS

ORANGE.—Members of the Young Women's Forum held a dinner meeting followed by a theater party at Laguna Beach Saturday night. The affair took the place of the regular meeting, scheduled for last Monday night. Those who attended were Misses Helen Estock, Edna Bargasden, Laura Malin, Henrietta Settle, Eileen McCollum, Lucille Reich, Margaret Westover, Lila Erbenbraut and Helen Meyers.

many as three or four organizations have had meetings on the same night, which, in turn, has resulted in poor attendance. H. R. Jackson, a retired naval officer, residing at 615 Glenneville street, has volunteered to act as coordinator of dates provided the organizations are sufficiently interested in extending cooperation.

REPORT PEST DAMAGING BEANS

Tubbs Outlines Methods of Combatting Wire Worm Attack

Wire worms, tiny pests infesting sandy lima bean land, are bringing serious damage to bean crops in the Talbert area this year, correspondents reported today. The entire crop on five acres owned by Louis Bushard has been destroyed, and other growers are reported to have lost 10 per cent or more.

Plants now being attacked by the worms, larvae of the click beetle, apparently are doomed, as effective treatment calls for action in early spring, according to advice from D. W. Tubbs, county agricultural commissioner.

Worms Poisoned

Recommended treatment is to plow the ground seven inches deep in early spring, and as soon as the ground is ready to germinate seed, drill in cheap split beans or peas. A month later granular calcium cyanide, which releases deadly fumes, is to be drilled along the same rows just below the planted seed. Worms attracted to the swelling seed are poisoned and killed. Regular planting may follow in a few days, Tubbs said. Including materials and labor, cost is about $35 per acre, Tubbs said.

Drowned Out

Talbert ranchers, however, reported they feel the cost of treatment is too great to allow proper profit on rented land.

As the worms also can be killed by dryness or drowning, two possible treatments are to inundate the land when it can be kept at a temperature of from 70 to 80 degrees Fahrenheit. Below 60 degrees, Tubbs said, worms are too sluggish to use much air, and do not drown. Thorough drying of the soil, he added, often has good effect, and may be obtained by planting grain or forage every fourth or fifth year.

Chandler's Have Special Showing Of Refrigerators

One of the principal features of a special refrigerator showing now being held by Chandler's, local Frigidaire dealer, is a spectacular proof demonstration of low operating cost.

"Electric refrigerators have been showing constant improvement in operating cost year by year," said E. L. Lucas, of the firm, "but in this year's frigidaires, engineers have attained a new all-time record for economy of current consumption."

"So enthusiastic are we about low operating cost and so nearly unbelievable is it, that we simply do not ask any one to accept our unsupported word."

"In this special showing, which will continue through the summer, we have frigidaires connected to sealed electric meters, each meter registering the exact amount of current used day by day in the frigidaire to which it is connected. These frigidaires contain a full load of food and ice, just as they would in a home, and they are opened even more often."

"While these meters are exactly the same in principle as those regularly installed in homes for measuring all electricity used, they have been built with one large dial that looks like a speedometer on a new model car and is every bit as easy to read."

"The small amount of current used has been a revelation to the overwhelming majority of people who have been to our showing so far. That is why we have called the 1936 mechanical unit the 'meter-miser'."

Claims His Bonus And Gets Jailed

Trouble's just ganging up on Harold Rist.

Last week part of his bonus bonds, amounting to more than $600 were found in a bus station plumbing fixture and another portion was blowing along the street. Police couldn't find him.

Saturday afternoon he appeared at the police station ready to claim his bonus, but landed instead in the county jail.

Desk Sergeant B. F. Lutz arrested Rist, who gave his address as 336 South Main street, and jailed him on a drunk charge. "When he gets out," Lutz said, "he can have his bonds."

FIVE CALL FOR F.D.R. DEFEAT

NEW YORK, (AP)—Text of the statement issued here last night by former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, Bainbridge Colby, former Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts and Daniel F. Cohan of New York calling for repudiation by the Democratic national convention of President Roosevelt, follows:

"To the delegates to the National Democratic convention in 1936. 'As men who believe in the principles, teachings and traditions of the Democratic party as they were personified by Thomas Jefferson and Grover Cleveland, we urge you, who meet in the name of the party made glorious by the records of those men, to emulate their examples and do in the present grave crisis confronting our country what those great leaders would have done under such conditions."

"We suggest to you, as all of these men were conspicuous for courage and character, that they would subordinate partisanship to patriotism; look with an eye single to the welfare of the country and its citizens, act in the manner best calculated to preserve the institutions under which we became the first nation of the world and gave to our citizens a measure of comfort and a standard of living wages incomparably higher than those enjoyed in any other land."

"We submit, therefore, that—if you are to continue to act under the name of the Democratic party—you must first be American rather than anything else; you must take the heavy hand of government off of business, to the end that the 10 or 12 millions of unemployed may again join the ranks of workers employed in the factories, industries and on the farms of the country; you must put in power men under American policies of government who will balance our budget and put an end to the series of deficits measured in billions, which the present administration has given to us; you must have a government which will make and enforce laws that will keep the American markets for American industries and farms and not have them swamped by the goods and products of nations that are our industrial and farming rivals and competitors."

"In chasing the shadow of foreign markets we must not throw away the substance of the greatest market in the world—the domestic market of the United States of America. You must put an end to the orgy of spending our public funds and the creating of millions of additional tax eaters who are breaking the backs of the honest majority of our countrymen and women, who still toil and save as did their parents before them."

"You must do away with conditions under which 20,000,000 of Americans are on the dole, with nothing to hope for under present rulers except a continuance of that condition of semi-servility. 'You must preserve the Constitution and under it the three separate, distinct and independent branches of government. To that end you must have a president who will remain within his own sphere of jurisdiction and not make the congress into a rubber stamp or try to intimidate the judiciary into an indorsement of his efforts to turn our republic into a dictatorship on the European model or an Asiatic absolutism."

No Alliances

"You must follow the advice and example of the great presidents of the past and keep our country free from entangling alliances with Old World powers. You must insist upon a Chief Executive who will collect the moneys due us from defaulting governments instead of encouraging by silence or otherwise a continuance of defaults."

"You must, above all, put an end to the campaign, now under full swing, to buy the presidency by the misuse of funds, generously given by the people of the United States to alleviate want and distress, largely caused by the incompetence of public servants—and if there is no other way to do this, you must—during the continuance of such help to otherwise helpless millions of Americans—save the honor of the country by preventing the dispensers of these public funds from coercing the voters, for whom the money has been appropriated, not as a bribe but as a national necessity."

"These are hard tasks even for men who are worthy of succession to the leadership of the Democratic party. They would necessarily involve the putting aside of Franklin D. Roosevelt and the substitution of some genuine Democrat—of whom you will have so many on your list of delegates."

"Is it too much to expect, with the many patriotic men and women among you, that the convention will have the courage and character to do these things? You will have to do them if you are to show yourselves fit to follow in the footsteps of Jefferson, Jackson and Cleveland."

"The temptation to do otherwise may be great. 'But if you do not act as those men would have acted, you should put aside the name of the party, which you will have deserted, and adopt a name which will properly reflect the principles of a registered state, as advocated in the so-called New Deal legislation."

"We hope for the best and call upon you to stand for Democratic principles so that the coming contest may be between two great American groups, which have honest differences of opinion, within the framework of the Constitution."

Institutions Safe

"If you do, you will deserve success and honor—no matter what may be the outcome of the campaign, for in either case American institutions will be safe. 'If you fail, then patriotic voters of all parties will know unhesitatingly to what standard they must rally in order to preserve the America of the great leaders of the past."

"We beg to subscribe ourselves as men who will remain faithful to Democratic ideals and traditions as well as to our country."

BONUS GIVES CHUCKLE TO CARRIERS

Mailmen Report Amusing Incidents in Delivery of Local Bonds

By now most of the local veterans have received their bonuses and original surprise and excitement have turned into interest in disposition of the funds. There were no bad mixups of identical names or cases of angry wives, but mail carriers here still recall the vet who persuaded the milkman to take 13 of his bonds with the warning, "Don't use 'em. They're no good."

Bought a Desert.
Then there was the important Santa Ana citizen who canceled a dinner engagement so as to be home when the famous bonds arrived. The clock struck 10, then 12. At last it dawned on him that he had better go to bed. He is still waiting for his bonus.

According to Postmaster Frank Harwood, veterans feel they have to spend their money—the sooner the better. One fellow noticed a sign of 80 acres of desert for $80 and promptly bought them up.

"Praps thar's gold in them hills!"
Judge John Mitchell has kept his promise that current inhabitants of the jail should get their pay, and the postoffice has delivered it to them.

Held the Bonus!
The prominent head of one of the leading public utilities was unable to find anyone who knew him at a local establishment. At a loss, he went to Harwood to be identified so he could collect.

Now historical is the anecdote of the telephone call, when voice with a dark-brown accent pleaded, "Postmastah? Wanna hold up that check foh vet bonus?" On being informed that the checks had been sent already by certified mail, he explained, "We's havin' differences down at our house. Don't want the check 'til the differences are evah." However, the check arrived on time!

ALF M. LANDON :: Picture Story Of His Life

At 45, Alf M. Landon first sought public office. The spotlight turned upon a stocky man who, his daughter said, "wears those hats until the Salvation Army won't take them." He chose soft flannel shirts when convention did not demand white. He smoked a pipe.

Back in Tonganoxie, Kans., a filling station attendant cherishes today the memory of an incident illustrating Landon's campaign technique, demonstrated in the fall of '32. "I'm Alf Landon, running for governor," the candidate announced, pulling up at the station. "Got a cigarette?" The attendant got out his pack, the two had a smoke together, and Landon gained another ardent supporter.

His companion on many a campaign junket was Peggy Anne, then 15, Landon's oldest daughter, by his first wife. Her mother had died the year after she was born. As a widower, Landon had taken the slim, brown-eyed girl into the oil fields with him; she was as much at home in the saddle as he. Her new mother, at 32, looked more like Peggy's sister than a parent. Peggy called her "Theo."

Voters liked Landon's folksy campaigning. Of only five Republicans elected governor that fall, the year of the Roosevelt landslide, he was one. When the family moved to Topeka, it numbered four—Nancy Josephine had been born July 29, 1932, the same week her father won the nomination. He was sworn into office in January, 1933, to tackle the problems that everywhere faced states in the depression.

SHIPMENT IS LESS THAN IN 1935

Final Week Shows Rise of 13 Cents in Box Price

Orange county valencia orange growers were looking ahead to the future hopefully today following the report that prices in the last week of May were 13 cents a box higher than for the last week in May of 1935. This figure, however, is based on shipments which were one-third less in volume than those of the last week in May of last year.

Total shipments locally amounted to about 450 cars in May, compared to 3200 cars in May of last year. The chief reason for the difference is the fact that shipping started later this year than last. The crop, also, is expected to be smaller than last year's harvest. The total price for the month of May also was slightly higher than in May of 1935.

It is expected that during July and August the movement will be cut down somewhat in view of competition from deciduous fruits. The California Fruit Growers' Exchange today reported that May prices on navel oranges were 27 cents a box higher than the prices for April, and 21 cents a box higher than in May of 1935. The total volume of oranges sold in May was 300 boxes less than in April, and 1600 boxes less than in May of 1935, the report said.

CHARGES "DEAL" BY FARLEY AND GOV. LECHE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Representative Burdick (R., N.D.), charged in a statement in the Congressional Record that Postmaster General Farley and Governor-Elect Richard W. Leche of Louisiana have entered into a "sale" whereby differences between the national and state administrations were settled. Burdick said agreement between the two was reached at New York shortly after Leche's election on a ticket supported by followers of the late Senator Huey P. Long.

The national administration's part of the program, he said, was to withdraw tax evasion indictments against Seymour Weiss of

New Orleans and other Long leaders, and to agree that certain patronage would be restored to the Long forces. In return, he said, the Long forces were to see that "Long congressmen" withdrew their names from a petition calling for house action on the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage bill and deliver Louisiana for President Roosevelt.

WPA SET TO BEGIN NEXT YEAR WORK

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Administrator Harry L. Hopkins reported today the WPA is ready to begin the new fiscal year July 1 with nearly $4,000,000,000 in approved projects available for the job program.

A new report of Works Progress administration activities showed that 90,000 projects, involving an expenditure of $1,149,371,856, were under way as of April 15, out of a total of 178,000 projects with an estimated total cost of $5,450,000,000. Approximately four out of every five dollars made available by WPA, the analysis said, are used for direct labor costs, while 86 per cent of the contributions of sponsoring communities goes for materials, equipment and other operating expenses.

Hopkins, who said yesterday it would not be necessary to have the projects re-approved under the new $1,425,000,000 WPA appropriation, said states and communities were putting up $265,000,000, or 18 per cent of the cost of work now under way.

Milk Price Won't Take Jump Here

If an increased price schedule of payments to milk producers is adopted for the Los Angeles area, producers here will be paid at the higher rate, but retail prices will remain the same.

This was assured today by the Orange County Dairyman's association. The proposed price schedule of 58 cents per pound of butterfat, as compared to 52½ cents paid now, was approved by the milk control board in Los Angeles Friday, but is subject to approval of the state director of agriculture. It is not binding on Orange county.

SANTIAGO

The name for Santiago was Saint James, Who was the Patron Saint for lusty men.

The Santiago stream enjoys the run, From Saddleback through canyons rough and wild. The rocky gorges echo merry sounds, The running water feeds the sycamores.

The oak trees stand in sturdy, solemn pride, In sheltered deltas where the soil is rich, And mocking birds are singing happily.

For all is nature at her very best, No wonder Great Modjeska loved her home!

The Santiago took the bitter sting, That goes with life and heavy tragedy, And washed it like a leaf into the sea.

STEEL FIRMS FACING BID CHARGES

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The justice department was charged today with the task of taking "appropriate action" in the case of four steel corporations accused of collusive bidding by the federal trade commission.

The companies are the United States Steel Corporation, the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation and the Inland Steel Company.

President Roosevelt turned the commission report over to Attorney General Cummings, with a recommendation for "appropriate action."

The report said the four companies "admitted" they quoted identical bids for the delivery prices of sheet piling on three projects because they acted pursuant to a resolution of the industry for the continuation of a system of prices fixed under the provisions of the former NRA steel code.

The commission report, prepared at the request of the President, said the bids were submitted in August and September, 1935, on the piling of the Triborough bridge at New York, a harbor project at Miami and an ocean terminal at Morehead City, N. C.

The commission reported there was "reasonable ground to believe that the anti-trust laws have been violated."

ATLANTA, Ga. — When a man bites a dog it's news. But when a baby bites a snake, it's even bigger news. That's what happened here the other afternoon.

The baby in question was Jack Bone, 17-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Bone of Atlanta.

The baby wandered away from the parents, and when found, was seated in the front yard chewing on a 15-inch snake.

The frantic parents took the child to a hospital, where doctors made a thorough examination and found the youngster uninjured.

P. S.—The snake died a few minutes later.

Marriage Vows Heard by Cousin

Nephew of Santa Anans
and Long Beach Girl
Married Here

Given in marriage by her father, J. H. McClarren, and in a ceremony performed by her cousin, the Rev. Mr. O. Scott McFarland of Santa Ana, Miss Martha Helena McClarren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McClarren of 246 Molino, Long Beach, Saturday night became the bride of Pierce Reed Fuller of San Diego, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Fuller of San Bernardino.

The beautiful nuptial ceremony was performed at the First Presbyterian church of this city, in the presence of about 60 friends of the young couple.

For fifteen minutes before the service, T. H. Warner, at the console of the organ, played an arrangement of wedding songs, and just before the entrance of the wedding party he accompanied Mrs. Annette Smith of North Hollywood, a schoolgirl friend of the bride, who sang two lovely numbers, "God Touched a Rose," and "O Promise Me."

Candles at Altar
The music then blended into the opening strains of Wagner's "Wedding March" from "Lohengrin" as the bride and her attendants came through the rear door of the church and approached the candle-lit altar.

Three large baskets of white flowers, with alternating arrangements of palms and fern, formed the background of beauty and dignity for the impressive service, white tapers in branch candelabra softly illuminating them from above and below.

Organa Dresses
The bride, who came in on the arm of her father, wore an exquisite wedding dress of white organza, made with the skirt touching the floor all around, and with little full sleeves and a round collar. Her veil, caught at either side of her head with a single gardenia, was of fingertip length, and she carried an arm bouquet of gardenias, lilies of the valley, and bovardia, with a shower of white satin ribbons.

She was preceded by the aisle by Miss Opal Rogers of Los Angeles, a Kappa Alpha Theta sorority sister who was maid of honor, and by Mrs. E. A. Heacock of Honolulu, as bridesmaid.

The former wore a charming frock of green organza, long, with a flounced panel down the back, and with a small green hat to match. Her gown was yellow with a small green hat to match. Her gown was yellow with a small green hat to match.

The bridesmaid's dress was yellow organza, with a small ruffled cape and short sleeves, and her flowers were pompon dahlias in a white vase. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo, with a white shirt and a white bow tie.

Brother Attends
Robert Fuller, who has been attending his brother's wedding, and Paul C. Bodenhamer of Santa Ana acted as usher.

After the ceremony, the guests were invited to the McFarland home at 303 South Orange, for a formal reception, where dainty finger baskets, models of breads and pink iced cakes were served.

Mrs. McClarren, mother of the bride, wearing a tailored afternoon dress of navy blue with white dots, and Mrs. McFarland, in a soft print crepe, assisted in receiving guests. The bridegroom's mother, who presided at the coffee urn at the prettily appointed table, wore a smart printed crepe.

Reception Follows
Others assisting included Miss Lena Nelson, a cousin of the bride, and the Misses Alice Clara and Mary Lou McFarland.

During the reception, pictures were taken of the bridal party, and the bride and groom then left for a short honeymoon, the former changing to a smart tailored suit of navy blue gaberdine, with accessories to match and with touches of white. A gardenia corsage completed the costume.

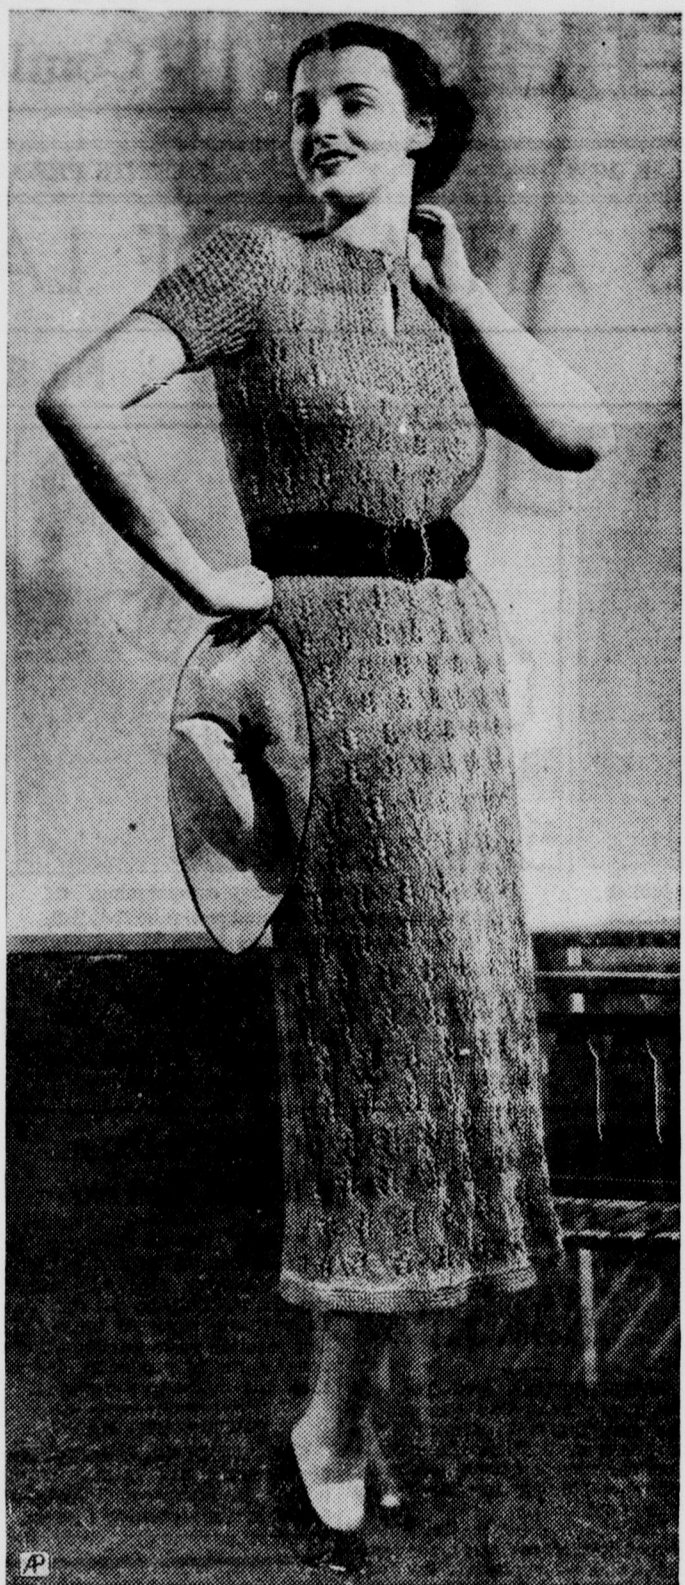

After a brief trip, the couple will be at home at 1918 Twenty-ninth street, San Diego, the bridegroom being in the offices of the California Fruit exchange in that city.

Mrs. Fuller is a graduate of the University of Arizona, where she was affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, and has been teaching in San Bernardino, which is her former home.

Mr. Fuller received his schooling in San Bernardino and in the East. The early years of his life were spent in Upland.

Guests Sign Book
Among those attending the wedding and signing the guest book at the reception were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McClarren and Mrs. Charles P. Fuller of San Bernardino.

Eighty-five "alumni" of the Whitney Maternity Home, 705 Kilson drive, the oldest 8½ years of age and the youngest just 3 weeks, paid a visit to the home where they were born when they and their mothers attended a reception held by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Whitney recently at the home.

Most of the "home-comers" who called during the morning and afternoon were under 5 years of age, but Clara Jane Sandring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sandring of Santa Ana, claimed reminiscences of the home more than 8 years back when she was one of its babies.

The tiniest of the guests was James Azlin, 3-weeks-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Parke Azlin of Huntington Beach.

TUSTIN COUPLE SEE NIECE MARRIED

When Miss Wilma Alley, niece of Mr. and Mrs. George Philipp, Tustin, was married Saturday to Willard Fuhrer, in Hollenbeck Heights, Los Angeles, the Tustin couple stood in the position of parents to the bride.

Before the Philipps moved to their avocado ranch about a year ago, Miss Alley made her home with them in Los Angeles. Consequently, when preparations for the wedding got under way last week, the bride was assisted by her aunt and uncle.

Mr. Philipp gave the bride in marriage, and her aunt was hostess at a reception for 200 guests, following the ceremony.

Vesper Rites at Baptist Church

Wearing the traditional white satin gown of a bride, and carrying a lovely bouquet of gardenias and bovardia, Miss Marjorie May Woods, daughter of Mrs. Nell M. Woods of 807 North Broadway, became the bride of Charles E. Crumrine, Jr., of San Juan Capistrano in a pretty wedding ceremony a 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The nuptial rites were performed by the Rev. Mr. Harry Owens at the First Baptist church in this city, where close to two hundred friends gathered to witness the ceremony.

The bride's dress was fashioned with a long skirt and a long-sleeved lace coat that extended to a train at the back. Attending her as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Betty Woods, whose dress was of yellow net over tulle, with touches of blue. With this she wore a small hat to match and carried a formal round bouquet of yellow sweet peas, blue delphinium and Taisman roses.

Miss Harriet Crumrine, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Maxine Clark of Belpre, Kans., who has been attending Santa Ana Junior college, were bridesmaids. Both wearing peach net over tulle, made in a style similar to the maid of honor's frock.

Little Carla Jo Mock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mock, was the flower girl. In a crisp blue dress of blue tulle, she preceded the bride up the aisle, carrying a tiny formal bouquet of sweet peas and blue delphinium.

Gladstone Brubaker of Hemet served the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Melvin Wiseman, Wayne Bartholomew, Jack Davidson and George Berry.

Alan Revell officiated at the organ, playing the two wedding marches and accompanying Miss Laura Joiner in her two solos, "Serenity" and "Because."

Gladstone in pastel colors harmonizing with the hues of the bridesmaids' dresses were banked with palm at the platform, where tapers burned in tall candelabra.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Ebelle clubhouse, one hundred of the guests, including relatives and close friends, gathering to wish the newlyweds well and to partake of the bride's and bridegroom's cakes which were cut during the evening.

White appointments graced the lovely table which had been arranged in the reception room.

Later in the evening, the couple left for a honeymoon trip of about 10 days' duration, the bride changing to a smart white ensemble with a three-quarter length coat over a tailored silk dress and with all white accessories.

Alhambra will be their home this summer, with plans to return to Santa Ana in the fall. Mrs. Crumrine is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and Junior college and of the University of California at Los Angeles. She was affiliated there with Pi Lambda Theta educational sorority and Delta Epsilon, a national art group. This past year she has been a teacher at Lathrop Junior High school.

Nuptials Read at Brethren Church

Immediately following the Sunday evening service at the United Brethren church, Miss Marjorie Viola Grout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Grout, North Main street, Orange, was married to Royal M. Gammell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gammell, 636 West Myrtle street, the pastor of the church, the Rev. Mr. E. E. Johnson, performing the ceremony.

Lights were dimmed at the close of the church service, and ushers carried lighted candles into the church and placed them in candelabra, while Miss Cora Alice Powell, Orange, played "Serenade" by Schubert. Miss Donilda Dollard, Orange, sang "I Love You Truly" before the wedding.

The bride wore a dress of white crepe with all white accessories, and carried a bouquet of white larkspur, blue delphinium and pink roses. She was attended by Miss Alice Viles, dressed in aquamarine crepe, and carrying white larkspur and yellow sweet peas. The best man was Perry Grout, Orange, brother of the bride.

Marguerites, carnations and gladioli banked the altar before which the couple exchanged vows. Both wedding marches were played by Miss Powell and followed by the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor.

For her going-away dress, the bride wore white, with blue accessories. She was graduated from Orange High school in 1933, and attended Santa Ana Junior college. The bridegroom was graduated from Santa Ana High school in 1933 and also attended the junior college. He is employed by a sheet metal shop here and the couple will make their home in Santa Ana.

SHOWERS HONOR POPULAR TEACHER

A note handed to Miss Eloise Owens, sixth grade teacher at Hoover school by one of the boys in her class just after the bell rang on the last day of school led the instructor on a merry chase through the halls, into the various schoolrooms, down into the basement, and finally back to her own room before she discovered the pretty wedding gift which the boys had purchased for the home she plans to establish this summer.

Miss Owens is one of several popular young teachers who will be brides this summer, and she has been feted with a number of pretty parties in honor of the coming nuptials.

Her gift from the class boys was a lamp which matched the set of white pottery given to her several weeks ago by the school parent-teacher association.

Arrangements for the surprise were made by David Hearle, Fred Pope and Lowell and Dwight Schroeder.

Shortly after Miss Owens' "treasure hunt," two of the room mothers, Mrs. F. A. Burkett and Mrs. Orson Hunter, arrived with ice cream and cake as a climax to the happy afternoon.

Earlier in the week, the girls of her class gave a party in honor of Miss Owens and presented her with a lovely gift.

Mary Stoddard Husband at Wits' End With Extravagant, Flighty Wife of Many Love Affairs

Sometimes we are so close to our problem that we cannot find the solution. In the case of a 31-year-old husband and father, the entire trouble centers about his young wife, who is in the mad whirl of an ultra-modern crowd. Right is right and wrong is nothing. This husband earns the money. He should cut her off at the pockets, handle his paycheck in a wise manner and teach his extravagant wife a lesson. He wants our readers' opinions, too.

Dear Miss Stoddard: I'm just a mere man, 31 years old, but I've a whole lot of a problem. I'd sure like advice from the readers, especially men.

I'm married, have a little girl 8 years old. She is my only real possession, as everything else my wife has promised to some loan shark.

My wife and I talked it over. In fact, have several times, and she tells me that over 90 per cent of couples around our age are living this modern style—that most all couples step on each other and she told me to go and amuse myself if I cared to.

At first I was shocked at all this new style of living, but she even brought a crowd home who does all this and even go so far as to exchange husbands and wives. They tell me it's out of date to demand my wife for myself alone.

Sometimes I feel as though life is giving me very little. I earn $100 a month—I used to think it was quite a bit, but my wife says it's way too little.

She spends mostly on food and drink and being a good fellow with the crowd. All in all, I'm in debt up to my neck and see no way clear.

Several times my wife has stayed out nearly all of the night on dates, or she says she's with some friend at a beer parlor. I tell myself that she's faithful, but deep in my heart I wonder. What do some of you men think? She says my relatives are jealous because she is living life as it should be.

My one desire is to have a home, some peace, no worry, pay my bills and be proud of my wife—but I haven't it this way of living.

My wife tells me she is really true to me by bringing these men home and that I should approve and society also if she does it all out in the open and keeps me posted of her newest man and his affairs.

Sometimes I wonder if I'm a real man to stand for this, but then I married her for "better or for worse till death do us part." She tells me to live life high and then we can settle down.

Don't tell me to calm her down, as she refuses to give up her men and good times. My little girl is beginning to ask questions.

If my wife did all this on the quiet, I'd get mad, but she tells me about it and says I haven't a right to get mad at her, as she is hiding nothing from me.

What do you and the readers think? What will my future be and my little girl's? Frankly, I'm beginning to worry.

Yours truly,
MAN AT WIT'S END.

Dick Powell has sung an average of five songs a day for the last 10 years. Yes, he sings even in the bath tub.

Doctor Quotes Guides to Health

By CLAUD N. CHRISMAN, M. D.
Short, terse statements of facts are often much easier to remember than long explanations. Here are some gleaned from recent articles in the medical literature:

"Usually the first thing to do when a person faints is to lower his head and keep him flat on his back."

"Children crave and need good candy. It should never be eaten before a meal."

"If vaccination were made compulsory, smallpox would be unknown."

"Rest is the most important remedy in the treatment of infantile paralysis."

"One of the simplest and most effective treatments for seasickness is to lie down."

"No person should keep dead teeth."

"Tuberculosis must be attacked during the first stage of infection, and reinfection must be prevented. The first infection usually appears in childhood. The child may not appear sick. He may have a few enlarged glands, be listless, tire easily, have a poor appetite, be underweight and have a slight cough. These children should be carefully examined."

"The most important symptoms of heart weakness are shortness of breath, inability to lie flat, pain in the region of the heart, palpitation and swelling of the feet."

"In cities where the entire milk supply is pasteurized, milk-borne disease is practically unknown."

"Paper sandals should be worn in locker rooms and gymnasiums and thrown away after use in order to prevent ringworm infection or so-called 'athlete's foot.'"

"Most physicians consider coffee harmful to children, but harmless for normal adults."

"Diseased tonsils have been proven in many instances to be responsible for incurable heart disease."

"The citrus fruits, mainly oranges, grapefruit, lemons, apricots, and the like are a fair source of vitamins A and B, and an excellent source of vitamin C."

Jacqueline's Beauty Hints

By JACQUELINE HUNT
Only June, but already we have had a warning of the sweltering days to come.

When the asphalt melts and gusts of hot air rise from the pavement, when everyone is willing with the heat, the woman who can manage to look crisp and cool is to be envied.

Here are a few suggestions to help out your state of mind:

Surround yourself with cool-looking things.

Rearrange your living schedule so you will not have to hurry and worry.

Wear light-colored frocks, easily laundered.

Use a dehydrating and anti-perspirant conscientiously.

Bathe as often as you have time, and be generous with powders and sau de cologne.

Shampoo hair twice as often.

Avoid hot looking reds in rouge and lipstick.

The Sidewalk Spectator:

To The Journal: See where Democratic Chairman Jim Farley predicts that President Roosevelt will carry "48 states" in the November election, though he is asking for a $2,000,000 campaign fund to help make his prediction good.

Republican Chairman John Hamilton is a little more conservative. He is just as confident that Landon will win, and he is claiming 42 states.

Forty-eight states for Roosevelt and 42 for Landon. That's the 90 all together. Something must be wrong! There aren't only a little over half that number.

Now everyone predicted that Joe Louis would win the fight with Schmeling. In fact it was agreed he could name his own round. The odds were 20 to 1 on him. He could only win!

Maybe these political campaigners ought not to be so reckless with their predictions. It's easier to count the states afterwards—and safer.

Yours thinking as much,

SCIENCE CHURCH TOPIC ON ATOMIC FORCE QUESTION

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of the Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., was: "Is the Universe, including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?"

One of the Scriptural selections presented these words of Paul to the Corinthians: "And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power; that your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God."

But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit; for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God."

The Lesson-Sermon included also this passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The universe, like man, is to be interpreted by Science from its divine Principle, God, and then it can be understood; but when explained on the basis of physical sense and represented as subject to growth, maturity, and decay, the universe, like man, is, and must continue to be, an enigma."

Long Taxi Trip Ends in Jail

A special trip by taxicab from Barstow to Orange spelled double trouble yesterday for Lester Moore, 49.

Already wanted in Orange on a bad check warrant, Moore finally landed in jail as a result of an argument with the taxi driver over the bill.

The long trip had been just fine until they arrived at Orange, the driver reported. But when he and Moore couldn't agree about the bill, the driver just trotted over to the police station. Officers were very much interested when they heard the name, and said they'd take care of Moore. He was booked at the county jail on the check charge.

Churchgoers Tell Of Razor Threats

Churchgoers said they were threatened by a man with a razor. Mrs. Sol Griego said a stranger had tried to take her purse, and her husband exhibited a cut lip and leg.

So Vincente Gonzalez, 29, Anaheim, was booked in the county jail today on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, following his arrest by police last night.

Griego told police the stranger attempted to take his wife's purse yesterday as she sat in their car, and said he was sliced when he grappled with the man.

My children, bring me not the well-planned gift That every window will have on display, Trust to no advertising scheme, nor shift.

Little cakes and simple desserts that can be prepared beforehand are a boon to the young homemaker who likes to have friends drop in for a snack on Sunday evenings.

These little cakes with their mint flavor will top off a light summer supper:

Mint Cakes

Buy 4 of the large 5-cent peppermint patties. Melt 2 of these in a double boiler. Add 1 cup milk and set aside to cool.

Cream ½ cup shortening with ¾ cup sugar. Add the yolks of 3 eggs and 1 tablespoon cocoa and beat until light. Add 1½ cups flour that has been sifted with 2 tablespoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt, alternately with the milk and mint mixture.

Add ¼ teaspoon vanilla and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Bake in greased cup cake pans for 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Cool slightly and spread liberally with the following mint frosting:

Melt the other 2 mints in a double boiler, cool and add 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons cream and ¾ cup confectioner's sugar that has been sifted with 1 tablespoon cocoa. Beat the mixture until very smooth and fluffy.

Al Smith—Democrats—Joe Louis

"PUT aside Franklin D. Roosevelt and substitute some genuine Democrat—of whom you have so many on your list of delegates."

Democrats gathering in Philadelphia, the City of Brotherly Love, are greeted by the explosion, in effect, from Al Smith and four other Democrats of national importance. It remains to be seen if the detonation was caused by a real bomb—or by a Chinese firecracker.

Lots of folks believe that Al used up his real shot at the Liberty League dinner in Washington when he "took a walk" on the F. D. R. administration. And this new outburst is simply a pretty piece of pre-convention fireworks—and just about as important—although the great New York Tammany leader and his fellows are deadly in earnest.

A check-up on convention strength of Al and the others indicates that they are practically without representation, and that the demand that President Roosevelt be discarded as the party candidate for 1936 will be carried out with the rest of the empty bottles.

But if Democratic delegates are really serious about improving America's economic condition, they'll pay heed to some of the complaints listed on Governor Smith's ultimatum.

For instance: a lot of voters believe that the administration should put an end to the orgy of spending public funds; that it should respect the constitutional balance between the legislature, supreme court and executive; that it should go slow in competing with private industry; that it should do a dozen other things which have been tested and found right in our form of government.

The Democratic high command seems to have thrown common sense to the winds in many cases, and to have adopted an "it's-all-over-but-the-shouting" attitude. Signs of over-confidence have been multiplying in recent months.

No need to cite the danger. Just recall what happened to 10-to-1 Joe Louis, who stepped into the ring at New York last week supremely over-confident. The Democrats should draw a lesson from Joe Louis.

National Safety Council, reporting on accidents of 1935, says second most dangerous place in America is the home. No wonder so many people refuse to hang around the place.

A Message From the Stars?

SCIENTISTS from the staid and sober-minded California Institute of Technology are out on the bleak Mojave desert, studying mysterious radio sounds which apparently come from the Milky Way, so far distant that the human mind cannot conceive its immensity.

In all probability, the sounds will be found to be some form of static, caused by a disturbance out in distant space.

But the faint possibility exists that these are signals from another world.

Impossible, you say? Improbable, but not impossible.

The mind of man has conceived the radio, and has conceived the possibility of radio signals to other worlds. Strange and unbelievable things that man has thought of seem to have a way of coming true—as, for instance, machines that will talk, machines that will go through the air and beneath the sea, cars that can travel the ground faster than any animal which ever lived.

Mathematicians will tell you that, under the law of probability, if there are an infinite number of others stars—and our earth is a star—there will be another like ours.

Don't take this as a prophecy of radio communication with other worlds. Just think of it as a fascinating possibility which, if our world lasts long enough, may come true some day.

Wonder what became of the campaign manager who carried California in the primary against Landon?

Death on the Beach

MORE than 250,000 sun and surf worshippers frolicked on California's sandy shores yesterday—but among them lurked that sinister and perilous figure—the rip tide.

The rip tide ended one life at Hermosa Beach and snatched at least 50 others up and down the coast, only to be thwarted by the quick work of life guards.

Even the best of swimmers is helpless in a rip tide—unless he knows how to escape it. Life guards say that a bather caught in the seaward rush of a rip should not waste his strength by vainly stroking toward shore, but should take his predicament calmly and swim along shore so as to get out of the outgoing current into normal waters.

Best thing, however, is to stay out of rip tides, which generally can be spotted by their muddy current and whitecaps.

"The Republican party is now perfectly harmonious," roars a spellbinder. So is a cemetery, retorts our office Democrat.

Should He Have Known Better?

SAGINAW, Mich. (P)—The first words of John S. Martyn, 95, after he was admitted to citizenship were: "When do I get my check?"

He was the oldest person ever naturalized in Saginaw county.

Senator Borah is now America's Forgotten Man No. 1. Even the reporters have forgotten him.

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

Diary: Lay late after a night of fine wagon clanging and for a soda fountain snack, a strange breakfast of lettuce sandwich and chocolate ice cream soda.

So home and a letter from Jerry Cobb bidding us to sista on his broad Santa Monica porch awhile.

And a note from Alfred Vanderbilt offering to wager a dollar that a certain prediction of mine would not be realized. Then to walk on the avenue with my lady and we passed Gloria Vanderbilt and the widely publicized little Gloria and heard a rousing taxicab brawl, my favorite diversion.

To dinner at Sands Point with Paul and Margaret Whitman. And Phyllis and Billy Seeman, too, and Ethel Roche. Back to the city where the dog met us at the club with a tiny mouse as proud of his kill as a mighty lion hunter. And found the usual Ed Wynn telegram when mentioned in a column: "Thanks."

Many believe the constant shrinking of midday's hat brought on the hatless fad especially among the debutantes. Although the oldsters are taking it up and many women shoppers on Fifth avenue are bareheaded. The craze has thrown a scare into milliners for the hatless man had cost millions and seems to show no signs of abatement. It takes only a handful of celebrities to start these switches in styles. Canes were dropped in the same fashion. A half dozen nifty dressers tired of walking sticks. Voila!

Broadway's most recent name for the chiseler is terminate.

Actors believe initials that spell a word are jinx of great and lasting luck. Otto Kruger, for instance, is supposed to have the luckiest of all. They make O. K. and he always has a job. Jimmie Gleason has had a fortunate career. His spell Jag. The luckiest card player at one of the clubs for years was an actor whose initials spell Win. So lucky, indeed, that eventually nobody would join a game in which he sat.

Personal nomination for the most consistent of the up-in-the-cloud ladies of the movies—Miriam Hopkins.

It's little wonder dog lovers are so apt to rave about their pets. A man just recovering from calamity was telling me of this so-late today. Every owner has experienced one of those disquieting interludes when nothing seems right nor will ever be right again. At such moments the faithful dog always displays its gallantry. A romp, a walk, not even food, interests. He wants to creep up close, preferably with his paw or nose touching one's feet, to wait for some sign the storm has passed. Such emotions transcend the ordinary animal affection of a dog. They stretch from somewhere beyond the chimera of the human mind.

Not even Dempsey at the peak of his popularity is the target for more admiration along Broadway than the former New Orleans boot-black Tony Canzoneiro. Since his last brave battle he has become the idol of the street. Night clubs near a vest pocket minor. A regular seat than almost any current notable in the shifting parade. He symbolizes heart and courage to a district notoriously lacking these qualities. And with it all, his hat fits him snug. A smiling gargoyles with a battered face and cauliflower ears, he knows how to wear clothes in the Broadway flashy fashion.

Bagatells: Carolyn Wells has written 50 detective mystery novels. Dwight Morrow always stopped a few moments to hear a hardy gurdy tune. Reggie Vanderbilt asked Maury Paul to be present when he proposed to Gloria Morgan. Dean Cornwell is a dry cigarette smoker. The former German crown prince carried a vest pocket minor. Ford Frick once wanted to be a league hat boy and now look. Henry Sell has danced an hour a day every week day for seven years.

My favorite soda fountain boy was in a philosophical perk again today. "You column guys," he yawned, "serve about the same sort of pap as us jerkers—gas and goo."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

PHILADELPHIA. — Assembled Democracy has to do just three things in this City of Brotherly Love:

1. Change the two-thirds rule.
2. Adopt a platform more appealing than the Republicans.
3. Keep the convention going long enough so that the city boosters who put up $250,000 to bring the Democrats here can get it back again.

The nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt will come along after all this is over, and it is purely incidental.

Of these objectives, the first two—the two-thirds rule and the platform—will be the hardest. Thanks to Eddie Dowling's array of radio and theatrical entertainment, plus a carefully arranged schedule of procrastination, it will be fairly easy to stall the convention along for five days.

MAGIC PLATFORM
To all outward appearances, the platform will be equally easy. It will be pulled from the magic sleeve of Senator Bob Wagner and adopted without debate.

But this is only because long hours—in fact, several weeks—of preparation have already gone into the platform. Unlike the Cleveland convention, where the platform was pulled back and forth between Landon and Old Guard forces, the last word in the Democratic platform depends on one man—Roosevelt.

Nevertheless, back in Washington, where the platform really was written, there was plenty of behind-the-scenes argument among the President's advisers. And one of the most important factors was identical to the one that bothered Cleveland—the desire to please the Lion of Idaho, William E. Borah, and, if possible, induce him to "take a walk."

THREE ARGUMENTS
Chief controversy centered around these three issues: (1) monopoly; (2) currency; (3) an amendment to the constitution regarding minimum-wage and minimum-hour laws.

The last, loaded to the hilt with political dynamite, has caused sharp inner circle debate. One group of Democratic congressional leaders has flatly opposed any constitutional amendment. Meeting secretly in the senate office building last week, they argued that an amendment would only furnish the Republicans with anti-New Deal ammunition.

On the other hand, Senator Wagner, principal author of the platform, favors a strong stand for labor legislation. Other advisers point out also that Landon's "if necessary" pronouncement in favor of a constitutional amendment forces Roosevelt to take a definite position.

It now looks as if this would be taken.

CURRENCY PLATFORM

On the question of currency, the Democrats are getting right down to brass tacks with Senator Borah. Knowing how miffed he was at the way Landon put over his "gold dollar" telegram after the platform was adopted at Cleveland, Roosevelt emissaries actually have shown Borah a copy of the tentative currency plank.

"This is what they showed him: 'Gold serves as a convenient medium for settling temporary balances between nations, but to return to the old free gold standard is to invite monetary chaos and national disaster.

"We pledge continuance of sound money, with steady purchasing power of the dollar which will do justice not only as between present debtor and creditor, but between all who make commitments for the future in terms of the dollar."

Borah told his callers that if the Democratic platform contained such a plank he would give it his public endorsement. This plank was taken by the President for study over the week-end.

MONOPOLY

On monopoly, the New Deal master minds plan to go all the way with Borah. In fact they are even considering lifting verbatim the plank which the senator tried to have incorporated in the Cleveland platform. The Republican plank-writers eliminated the second paragraph—dynamite loaded—from their monopoly section. The New Dealers now propose using it. Here is how it reads:

"We favor a declaration by law of the conditions upon which corporations shall be permitted to engage in interstate trade, including among other things, the prevention of holding companies beyond the second degree, of interlocking directorates, of stock watering, of discrimination in price, of price fixing, and of all monopolistic practices which may be defined by law."

Borah told the Democratic emissaries that he wanted a red-hot anti-monopoly platform. And he will get it. Roosevelt has made it clear that he feels just as keenly on the subject as Borah does. It will take quite a bit to induce the Lion of Idaho to take a walk, but Roosevelt strategy is laying the foundation for it.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Some historical accounts say that the first Democratic convention was held in a Baltimore saloon in 1832. Actually, the "saloon" was the "salon" of the Athenaeum in Baltimore, a very respectable place. It being too small, however, the delegates adjourned next day to the more commodious Universalist church. In one respect the Philadelphia convention will be similar to that of the Republicans. There will be only one candidate placed in the nomination for the presidency, and for both the presidency and vice presidency there will be only one ballot. When Vice President Garner makes his acceptance speech Saturday it will be his first public address since the campaign of 1932. Senator Alben Barkley, the Democratic keynoter, won a prize for oratory as a high school student. Permanent chairman Joe Robinson was Al Smith's running mate in the 1928 campaign. A special ovation is being planned for the Georgia and Louisiana delegations when they are polled in the nominating roll calls.

SCIENCE NEWS

An ingenious mid-western bait manufacturing company has met the crying need of anxious anglers. This company has invented a new artificial bait that not only looks and acts like a small fish, but it also smells like one, if that can be imagined! The bait is rather pliable and can be shaped so that when drawn through the water it looks like a minnow.

What Other Editors Say

TRUTH ABOUT CHINA

(San Francisco Chronicle)

On what is happening in China, the best news service correspondents can do is to send over a variety of guesses by a variety of persons in a variety of cities. Of only one thing can we be sure. This is that nothing will turn out to be what it now seems. It is always so in oriental affairs. What appears on the surface is no indication of what is going on underneath.

If we may add one more guess to those coming over the cables it is that whatever is going on, and wherever it is going on, Japan is likely to be at the bottom of it, even at the bottom of this assumed Anti-Japanese Salvation Army.

To this may be added something that is more than a guess. When whatever is doing is all over, Japan will be found to have gorged some more of China, and to have fastened her teeth more firmly on the rest.

BETTER AUTO BRAKES MAKE FASTER STOPS

(San Bernardino Sun)

Automobile brakes are vastly better now than they used to be. That is one of the big safety factors brought about by improved mechanical equipment.

In a speech before the Society of Automotive Engineers, Paul G. Hoffman, head of the Automobile Manufacturers' association, said that in 1906 an automobile had a maximum deceleration of only 10 or 12 feet per second. Now the rate is 24 feet per second.

That sounds like a big improvement, and it is.

But here is something to think over in connection with it: Hoffman explained further that a car equipped with the very best modern brakes and running 30 miles an hour can be stopped in 41 feet.

What a number of terrible things can happen while a car is running 40 feet! And 30 miles an hour is moderate driving. It proves that even a new car with perfect equipment needs a careful driver.

A GOOD PLATFORM

(Fullerton Tribune)

A good platform for any party appealing for support from voters will be true conception of the American government was written many years ago by an Englishman. Macaulay's Essay on Southey's Colloquies, offers this terse statement of good government:

"Our rulers will best promote the improvement of the nation by strictly confining themselves to their own legitimate duties, by leaving capital to find its most lucrative source, commodities their fair price, industry and intelligence their natural reward, idleness and folly their natural punishment, maintaining peace by defending property, by diminishing the price of law, and by observing strict economy in every department of the state. Let the government do this, the people will assuredly do the rest."

There is a combination here of Washington and Jefferson and Lincoln. It is an accurate description of the kind of government which brought us from a few scattered thousands to the richest and most powerful nation in the world.

Remarkable Remarks

Liberty is not freedom, but rather the result or the flowering of freedom. Liberty is external and objective. Freedom is within. Liberty is political, but freedom is moral and spiritual.—Prof. Ross J. S. Hoffman, New York university.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Samples of What People Are Thinking

THE American Institute of Public Opinion issues periodic reports on the results of nationwide polls on current problems. These surveys purport to be true cross-sections of what Americans are thinking. This straw-voting business is getting to be a regular American custom. The results are sometimes surprisingly accurate. Perhaps we shall depend upon such sampling in the distant future and eliminate the necessity of holding elections.

Ever since the constitution went into effect discussion has ranged about the most suitable term for the President. During the verbal battles of the constitutional convention opinions varied all the way from a one-year term to life tenure. A one term of six years, with no reelection, was much in favor. Compromise finally picked on a four-year term with nothing said about the number of terms. The example of early presidents, Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe and Jackson, fixed the tradition of two terms being the limit for any president. Any suggestion of departure from this custom has been dismissed emphatically by the people.

The institute has just completed its poll on this question, "Would you favor changing the term of office of the president of the United States to one six-year term with no reelection?" The results were almost three to one against such a change. Apparently, the people are not alarmed over the difficulties in the present plan, and prefer to leave the question to tradition rather than to law. The vote was practically the same from farmers, from small towns and from the 10 largest cities.

Advocates of change point out the weakness of the present plan. They show that the president does his best work in the first half of his term and that the second half is necessarily devoted to building up a political machine for reelection. He seeks a second term as vindication of his first term. Those asking for change seem to think that one-term period would encourage faithful devotion to the very end.

But opponents of change point out that the problem of succession would still be present. Whether a President succeeds himself or grooms his own successor the political situation would be much the same. President Jackson would like to get Martin Van Buren to walk in his steps, as did Theodore Roosevelt in choosing Taft as his successor. This whole discussion does not seem to be a political issue, for the straw-vote showed the major parties almost exactly of the same mind on the matter. At any rate, we may be sure that "third-term" whispers will crop up as they always have, and will then fade away as one national hero disappears away and another rises in his stead.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

Le Ray Quick, of telephone transportation fame, has returned from a trip into Arkansas, yes suh!

He disclosed his plans to me before leaving Santa Ana. He said he was going to take the train and ride to the end of the rails, then get into an automobile and travel as far as the roads would permit. When the going got too bad for a car he was going to get a wagon and team of horses. When the wagon road ended he would ride horseback, and when the underbrush stopped the horse he would get out and walk and start huntin' and a-shootin' and a-fishin'. Now I got to go over and talk to him about the trip and believe everything he tells me because he was alone.

Exchanging prevarications with George Angell at Sycamore and Fourth when along comes Charley Davis who says: "So this is the angle from which you get your news?" If C. V. keeps that up I'm going to tell Fred Allen.

Gene Short, the wife, the son, the nephew—Harold Stowe—after a 17-year residence in Santa Ana, have moved to Corvallis, Ore. Son Harold will attend Corvallis college this fall. Gene not only leaves a host of friends, but he leaves a business record for fidelity which will serve as acceptable credentials no matter where he locates. If you appreciate his kind of friendship and "square-shootin'" write him a letter occasionally. He will be glad to hear from you. Gene has made a success of his own business. He managed it himself. Not only does he take with him the best wishes of his personal friends, but the family also carries along the good will that naturally belongs to a good family.

Bill Cole offers me a P. E. time table with the 5:18 scheduled. That's all right Bill, but you are six days late with the information.

Charley O'Caïn wants to be supervisor from the first supervisorial district. So do a lot of other fellows. Charley has for years been with the advertising department of Santa Ana newspapers. If he is as good soliciting votes as he is advertising he'll get some place—whether in that place or not is up to the voters to answer.

Tourist sends me word that thermometers registered 110 all the way across the state of Nebraska. There's a road leading through the Dakotas if he doesn't like Nebraska. I just looked at the map.

Frank Collins, who manages the e pluribus unum orange packing house—meaning the Consolidated—says out of every apparent misfortune some good develops. He does not regard the pickers' strike as imposing any major damage to the industry. The way the high school boys are "catching on" indicates it is likely to become an annual habit, and that a lot of strikers are likely to find themselves out of seasonal and profitable employment.

Well-known cafe proprietors publicize their place of business will close June 27 and open August 5. One of the girls will get married and another may attend the wedding. In the meantime the regular noon argument will close until the cafe reopens, when there will be a reunion and a resumption of the daily discussions which makes the luncheon hour one of unusual interest to all concerned, and a few spectators. But it's all good clean fun.

Herman Zabel volunteers to bring me down town, but he reckoned without the tonnage. By the time Herman had invested in five gallons of gas I had negotiated the distance myself. I don't know what became to Herman.

Passing a business building with a friend he stopped to illustrate the transition in industry. He said at one time the place under discussion housed one of the thriving businesses in the city. That there was a force of 42 men working on the second floor, and a full complement in the office departments. That all disappeared in the disaster that swept over the country during the prolonged depression. Which all goes to show that it takes a lot of business perspicacity to keep the wheels moving profitably.

Saturday—the day on which this copy was prepared—always proves to be the weekly drought. The banks get most of the business from 9 o'clock right up to high noon. From then on the procession moves toward the golf course. Middauntown there is a slump, which disappears about 5 o'clock when the shopping starts and continues far into the night. Out of this homology the extraction of news offers considerable opposition. But so far the day has closed with enough material to reach from the top to the bottom of this column, but it has occurred to me that there was some chaff in between.
